ELECTROCUTED AT THEATRE BUILDING

Owen Chanslor, Lineman In City's Employ, Instantly Killed By 'Hot' Line

BULLETIN
LOS ANGELES, June 5.—John Isis, a lineman, was instantly killed here today when he grasped a 4400-volt electric wire, while working on top of a pole.

Owen Chanslor, lineman for the municipal light department, was instantly killed this morning when he came in contact with a "hot" 2200-volt line at the new Alexander theatre, being built by the West Coast Theatres Co. on North Brand and extending into North Maryland avenue.

Desperate efforts of three doctors, members of the police and fire department and the first aid crew of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., failed after two hours to revive the electrocuted lineman.

Chanslor was working alone on a small platform at the top of one of the poles carrying the main feed lines into the new theatre. Four companions engaged with him were first notified that something was wrong when they heard a groan from the platform above. Rushing to the top of the pole they found Chanslor in a heap, apparently dead. He was prevented from falling nearly thirty feet to the ground by a safety belt about his waist.

Lowered to Ground
R. Harris, R. W. Heryford, W. King and G. M. Rice worked with the electrocuted man on the platform until an ambulance bearing Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city health officer, and Dr. A. B. Westphal arrived. With the aid of pulley and tackle the man was lowered to the ground where the physicians and members of the fire department first aid crew under Capt. R. E. Dodsworth took up the fight to revive the spark of life.

After more than forty minutes of desperate effort the body was turned over to members of the telephone company crew who continued their efforts to restore life from the body. The direction of Manager Fred Deal and Superintendent Foreman Easterley, Dr. Ore Ghrist and Fire Chief A. H. Lankford joined the rescue workers and doctors, but without avail. Oxygen administered by the firemen and adrenalin shot into the heart muscles of the dead man failed to produce results.

Widow and Children
Chanslor lived at 330 Piedmont street, Rosemont. He is survived by his widow and two small children who were notified of the accident by officials of the city.

MORE DEATHS AS HEAT IS UNBROKEN

Torrid Wave May Continue Over Week-End, Warns Weather Bureau

Death tolls from the grilling heat oppressing all sections east of the mountain states mounted today as June continued its unbroken torrid record, with no prospect for relief for several days.

Deaths from heat prostrations alone near the 100 mark, while drownings and storm deaths claimed nearly as many more.

Records for June temperatures topped in Illinois, Ohio and New York state. High relative humidity added to the deadliness of the unseasonal midsummer marks.

Cleveland reported twenty-three deaths in Ohio, ten were dead in Chicago and a like number in New York and New England, with other sections adding lesser marks.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The torrid wave that for four days has caused extreme discomfort and numerous deaths and prostrations over the greater part of the nation probably will continue over the week-end, weather bureau officials said here today.

There was only one cool spot in the entire eastern section of the United States yesterday and last night, according to advices. It was Buffalo, and there was a "freak" temperature of 77, which was due to a lake breeze.

Dawn today in the metropolitan district disclosed sleeping forms wherever some relief from the heat might be expected. In the parks, which were thrown open to sleepers by order of the mayor, on the beaches, piers, fire escapes, roofs and in automobiles, New York slept—or tried to sleep. A sea breeze offered little relief. Night came after a day of nine deaths and an uncounted number of prostrations were reported in and around New York city. The maximum of 95 broke all weather bureau records for the date.

Predict Hot Weather For Balance Of Week

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Except that somewhat cooler weather is probable in portions of New England and the interior of New York Saturday night or Sunday, there is no indication of a break in the heat wave during the next two or three days, the United States weather bureau announced today.

Mostly fair weather will prevail during the next thirty-six hours east of the Mississippi, but local thunder showers are probable in New England and the northern part of New York.

While the eastern states sweltered today, snow was falling in Yellowstone park.

Ten Die In Chicago As New Record Is Set

Armed Detail of 100 Picked Men to Guard Coolidge At Summer White House

By GEORGE E. DURO
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A company of United States marines, 100 strong, will guard the life of President Coolidge during his occupancy of the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., it was learned here today. Already the guard detail is being selected at the marine base at Quantico, each man being picked for ability and physique.

The almost unprecedented action in sending an armed guard from the regular military establishment with the president was made necessary by the physical arrangement of "White Court," the estate upon which the Coolidge establishment will be maintained.

Of fair acreage, "White Court" faces upon a rocky and broken coast line. The estate is covered with trees and shrubbery and, although bounded by other private property it has not enclosing wall of sufficient height to afford protection from malicious prowlers.

Careful survey of the grounds convinced the United States secret service in whose hands is entrusted the guarding of the president that the usual White House detail of from twelve to fifteen men could not possibly throw an adequate cordon around "White Court."

To send enough additional men with Mr. Coolidge would be so expensive as to be almost out of the question. The idea of the marine guard was hit upon. It was argued on the ground of economy that, inasmuch as the men had to be maintained wherever they were stationed, they could be located at Swampscott at little extra expense. The order went forward to produce a picked detail.

MACFARLANE HUNT WOMAN IN PERFUME MYSTERY

Worcester, Mass., June 6.—In one of the greatest comebacks ever staged in a golf classic Willie MacFarlane, a slim, professional-looking pro, almost unknown outside of West Chester county, New York, this afternoon won the national open golf championship from Bobby Jones, the experienced and brilliant Atlanta star and holder of the national amateur title, in their second play off match here this afternoon. The first play-off this morning resulted in a tie.

It was a dramatic eighteenth hole victory. MacFarlane won the match on the last hole. He finished one up on Jones. MacFarlane's score was 72, one above par. Jones took 73 strokes.

Morning Contest Results In Tie; Play This Afternoon

WORCESTER, Mass., June 5.—Golfdom's highest prize, the American open title, still teetered this afternoon between Bobby Jones, the brilliant young Atlanta amateur and Willie MacFarlane, the Scotch professional.

In their play-off for the title today, which was made necessary by yesterday's tie, they finished all square at the end of eighteen holes—necessitating another round of eighteen holes this afternoon.

Their match this morning was one of the most sensational in American golfing history. Trailing most of the way by one and two strokes, Jones made a brilliant finish, overtook his older rival and squared the match on the seventeenth hole. They halved the eighteenth.

Jones went into the seventeenth hole one down to his older opponent.

SOVIET CHIEFS AID STRIKE IN CHINA

'Red' Agitators Lead Move To Extend Campaign To Include Armed Forces

BULLETIN
LONDON, June 5.—Japan has sent China a sharp note, saying in effect "restore order or we enter," according to Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today. The newspaper gives great prominence to the story which goes on to state that Japan is threatening to revive her famous twenty-one demands upon the Chinese government.

SHANGHAI, June 6 (1 a. m.)—Anti-foreign agitators leading the city-wide strike which has tied up China's greatest seaport, planning to extend their organization to include the armed forces in Chinese territory adjacent to the foreign settlement, apparently have the co-operation of the Chinese merchant volunteers.

They were reported tonight to be endeavoring to win over the Woosung Chinese constabulary and the military gendarmes.

It was reported the agitators were arranging to obtain assistance from these military bodies in the event of an armed clash with the foreign settlement defense forces.

It was also rumored that three high officers of the Soviet army are arriving shortly to assist in the anti-foreign campaign.

The French municipal officials were reported to have reached an agreement with the Chinese whereby the strike was to be called off in the French settlement quarter, but there were no signs of the effectiveness of the reported peace settlement.

Striking stall-keepers of the municipal market visited nearby markets and sprayed foodstuffs on sale with carbolic acid and kerosene in furtherance of their campaign of starvation against the foreign settlement.

Coincidentally with a renewal of rioting and shooting, the wounded of the rioters and the walk-out of 150,000 more Chinese today, documents were produced as

Bluejackets Watch Over Food Supply

SHANGHAI, June 5.—Town hall today was established as the supply depot from which to fight the efforts of the Chinese strikers to starve out the foreigners.

Under guard of American bluejackets the food controller moved 2000 bags of flour from the wharves to the hall.

The French concession was the focus of the strikers' agitation today. Ten thousand Chinese employed in shops in that quarter put up the shutters on their places of employment and joined the milling throngs outside.

Hundreds of students with mourning bands on their arms for the score of rioters who have fallen in the strike demonstrations were riding on street cars through the French concessions, shouting to the workers to join in the walkout.

Others held riot meetings, rallying to them the Chinese they had persuaded to leave the shops.

Three more American destroyers arrived today from Chefoo. Naval forces ashore now include 800 British, 600 Americans, 200 Italians and sixty Japanese.

Additional American forces including 300 marines from Cavite in the Philippines, are en route.

TWO RESCUED ALIVE AND 2 OTHERS BELIEVED KILLED

BULLETIN
At 3 o'clock this afternoon two of the four men buried alive when a sewer trench caved in while workmen were laying pipe on Colorado street, had not been rescued. Volunteer rescuers are working in shifts, digging frantically in an effort to reach the two imprisoned men.

Tons of dirt loosened by the heavy rains of yesterday and this morning in the trench being dug on Colorado street between Central avenue and Columbus avenue, for the Glendale intercepting sewer, gave way at 2 o'clock this afternoon and buried workmen beneath.

Max Moore, 28 North Wilson street, Alhambra, and Jose Pombo, a Portuguese, living at San Gabriel, are believed buried beneath tons of dirt and paving material.

John Caskey, inspector for the city, who was standing on the edge of the trench when the dirt let go, was carried down with the avalanche and was rescued and directed the work of digging for the other two.

H. R. Palmer, 224 North Louise street, who was laying pipe in the trench at the time, was buried up to his waist. He was rescued uninjured.

Two laborers who were working in the trench at the time had not been accounted for by the foremen of the construction gang, and are believed to have been caught in the avalanche.

An appeal for aid simultaneously with the breaking of another downpour, accompanied by a heavy wind, which struck the city. These facts made rescue work difficult.

An appeal was made immediately for volunteers to aid in removing the tons of dirt that covered the men, in hopes of reaching the other two.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

Glendale is seeing a lot of the Shriners. The Shriners, from all parts of the country, by the way, are seeing a lot of Glendale. They are more than pleased with the beauty of this valley, nestled in the Green Verdugo Hills, which are all the greener for the recent rains.

Glendale is different, too. It has no stately courthouse, but few skyscrapers, and only three or four objects for "ballyhoo" bus guides, but it has homes and woodlands and hills and views to be found in few other places. It has schools and churches and a lively, if scattered, business section, and it is all-American.

There is nothing Glendale needs conceal. Even its industries are neat and clean. It is the kind of a town most people dream about. And it won't be long, we venture, until many of these Shriners, or their friends, will be coming to Glendale to live. It has that irresistible attraction.

Much fun at the expense of "Sunny Southern California" was had during the rainstorm which passed over Los Angeles county Wednesday of this week. Yes, several of the eastern tourists made remarks about the "unusual climate," but what was the east getting at the same time? Killing heat, tornadoes taking a deadly toll, lightning striking people down, rains washing out grain fields, snows covering grazing lands, freezing temperatures one day, hot blasts the next—elemental disturbances that are unknown to "Sunny Southern California."

In speaking to graduates at Annapolis Naval academy, President Coolidge took occasion to rap the jingoes who consider the Orient, be it Japan, China or Soviet Siberia, as a war menace. Of course, the president is right in assuming that the United States never has been and never will be the aggressor. But there is a war menace right now in China and there's no use in America sitting idly by and not being prepared to defend its own citizens.

As for the Chinese and Japanese, they may be considered friendly nations in that they need the United States' friendship as well as trade. But the Soviets are stirring the sleeping giant of Old China from its stupor and the riots of today may be the incipient cause of conflict between China and Japan, or Japan and Russia, with Great Britain, Italy, France and the United States embroiled before it is over.

The greatest disturbing jingo factor is not war talk, but the Oriental, be it religion. Californians know something of the Oriental problem. We know that great changes are taking place in the Orient. It is America's duty to be the watchdog in the Pacific.

BETTER MAILS WEEK LURE TO POET

'Newt' Clark Of Glendale
Postoffice Sings Ways
To Improve Service

Not to be outdone by any of Uncle Sam's high priced official poetry writers in Washington who have been busy the last month turning out verse on "Better Mailing Week," June 1 to 6, "Newt" Clark, Glendale carrier, burst into song today with the following results, all of which advocate better and more careful mailing of letters and packages:

WHICH SHALL IT BE?
Five million spent
By the government
On the badly addressed letter,
Or
Five million saved
And the way well paved
For mail service bigger and better?

Learned Lesson
There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise.
He got a piece of mail one day
Which opened up his eyes.
The address was on backwards,
Five days late, and then we find
That our hero learned a lesson,
Kept this always on his mind.

TRY THIS ONE
Put your address in the corner
Of every piece of mail that's sent;
Join the ranks, be a reformer,
Lots of money yearly spent
Will be used for something better
Than delivering a careless letter.

Tip From 'Cap.'
"Cap" Jackson, postmaster of Glendale,
Said take care when you send mail.
Then each postcard or letter
Will be delivered much better
Our mail service then cannot fail.

TOWER TELLS OF GARBAGE CONTRACT

Councilman Explains Why
He Voted Against An Increase In Pay

Editor The Evening News: In your report of council proceedings yesterday's paper, you state that the increased monthly salary for the garbage contractor was passed unanimously. Kindly permit me to correct this statement as my vote was cast in the negative. For the benefit of those interested I desire to explain briefly my reasons for so voting. The facts pertaining to this contract are as follows:

A five-year contract was entered into between J. Kosababin and the City Council commencing March 1, 1922 to March 1, 1927, at the following prices: $700 per month for the first year with an increase of $75 per month each year over the five-year period.

As a matter of fact this contract has been honored more in the breach than in the observance. Only nine months out of the three years and three months has it been lived up to. At the end of nine months the price was increased to $1100. Three months later it was increased to $1175. Again three months later it was increased to $1500. Eight months later, or March 1, 1924, it was increased to $2300.

Big Payment Increase
During that period of time from the making of the contract to June 1 of this year the city of Glendale has paid to this contractor between $59,000 and $60,000 for work that he was under a contract and a bond to perform for $30,625.

When a demand was made upon the new council for an increase of $550 per month it was suggested by City Manager Stone that the contractor fulfill his contract or that he forfeit the bond and that we advertise for bids. I heartily concurred with that view as being the proper way to meet the situation, and not vote away $11,550 until we could get other bids to govern our actions by. (This contract, when completed, will cost the city of Glendale over $40,000 more than the terms of the contract, provided in the remaining twenty-one months our contractor does not come back for one or two more raises. Seeing the ease and regularity with which they have been granted, he probably will. I question no one's motive in this proceeding but am endeavoring to make my position clear, and to state why I voted no.

War Hero Honored By Canadian Government

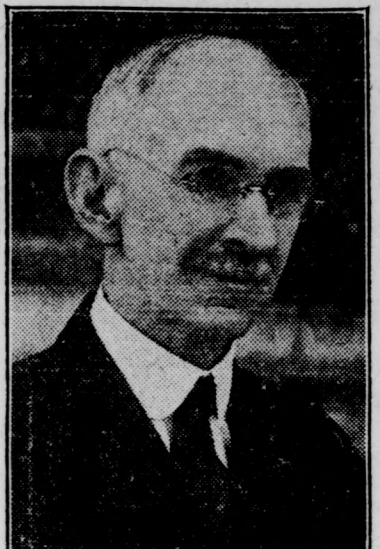

Francis Wallace of 127 West Chestnut street, who served twenty-seven months during the World war with the Canadian garrison artillery in Canada and England, is proudly displaying an English service medal, just received from Edward Morrison, major-general and adjutant-general of the Canadian militia. Under the royal seal, the following statement was received with the medal: "His Majesty, the King, has been graciously pleased to authorize the issue of the enclosed medal which I am directed by the honorable, the minister of National Defense, to convey to you herewith." The medal which hangs on a blue and gold ribbon, bears the likeness of King George and a Latin inscription on one side, and on the other a mounted, emblematic figure with the dates 1914-1918.

C. E. Peck

Resident of Glendale for twenty years, who died May 25 and whose funeral on Monday was largely attended by sorrowing friends.

With many friends gathered about and amid a profusion of beautiful flowers, the funeral of Charles E. Peck, resident here twelve years, was held from the First Methodist church of Glendale on Monday afternoon.

The service began with strains from the old favorite hymns played by Mrs. Randall at the organ. "Jesus Lover of My Soul" was sung by a quartet composed of Dr. P. O. Lucas, Dr. C. R. Lusby, Messrs. Glenn Dolberg and J. B. Clark. Mrs. John MacGregor sang beautifully "The City, Foursquare," and Mr. and Mrs. MacGregor sang "In the Garden."

Mr. Peck's pastor, Dr. Lincoln A. Ferris, had charge of the services, assisted by Rev. H. T. Rasmus Jr., and Rev. W. W. Hull of Pasadena and Rev. C. A. Norcross of Monterey Park. Rev. Hull and Rev. Norcross were former pastors of the Peck family at Calexico, California.

The final services were held at the Forest Lawn Memorial park, where Frank Booth sang most impressively "Face to Face."

Floral Tributes
The many floral offerings were all from close friends who thus expressed their love and sense of personal loss as well as sympathy for the bereaved.

A beautiful floral piece in the form of the Masonic emblem, sent from the Calexico lodge of which the late Mr. Peck was a member, recalled the fact that their building now stands on the first property owned by Mr. Peck in California.

A mechanic by trade, Mr. Peck was always wide-awake to new interests about him. Years ago he interested himself in the perfecting of the telephone and from the beginning of the recent development of radio he spared neither time nor labor in working to perfect the instruments which he, himself, constructed.

It was in his shop, while at his work, that possibly his most lasting influence was shed abroad over the lives of many a youth of Glendale. With remarkable unselfishness and patience he found time out of his busy life to share his discoveries with the boys and with it all the influence of a clean life has gone out and how far reaching that influence will be mortal man can never know.

Native of Ohio
Of all who knew Mr. Peck no more fitting words than these could be spoken: "None knew him but to love him. None named him but to praise."

Mr. Peck was born June 27, 1854, in Streetsboro, Ohio, and died May 25, 1925. He graduated from California Normal school, California, Penn., in 1876. He was married the same year to Elizabeth Davidson of Belle Vernon, Penn.

Besides his wife, three children survive, James Peck of El Centro, Cal.; Fred Peck of Washington, Penn.; and Rosa Peck, who resides at home. Another daughter, Julia, died twenty years ago, the first year after the family came to California. Five grandchildren also survive.

Besides his immediate family his nearest relatives are three nephews, Rev. Chas. Osgood, Dr. Wm. Osgood and Dr. Elliott Osgood.

"O, for the peace of a perfect trust:
That looks away from all;
That sees Thy hand in everything,
In great events, and small.

That hears Thy voice—a Father's voice
Directing for the best;
O, for the peace of a perfect peace,
And a heart with Thee at rest."

Two high school quartets also will sing.

Admission to the entertainments has been fixed at 25 and 15 cents for afternoon programs and 50 and 25 cents for night entertainments. Estimate Crowd of 200,000
In And Outside Stadium
To Greet Shriners

One of the greatest throngs in the history of Los Angeles witnessed the twin-parades that marked the climax of the Shrine conclave last night. One hundred thousand persons jammed the Coliseum like it had never been jammed before. Never since the big stadium was built has it been filled to capacity excepting last night.

In addition to those who saw the Shrine events from within the coliseum there were approximately 200,000 who craned their necks and stood on tip-toes along the street curbs while the pageants passed from

Rancher Gets Jumping Bean As Companion

When it comes to picking companions, Q. C. Wiltsey, a rancher living between Lankershim and Van Nuys, goes the rest of the world a little better, for he devotes his spare time to watching his pet jumping bean strut its stuff. Wiltsey found its companionship in the leaping lima through necessity, and not by choice. His wife went east on a visit. The next day his hunting dog sought a new master, and on the third day his wife's canary died. On the fifth day he saw the bouncing Bostonian performing, and parted with two-bits of his hard-earned cash in exchange for it. Since that time he has taught it to hop, skip and jump by the numbers, do the buck and wing, squads yeast and promenade all.

100 PLUMBERS MAY SUFFER IDLENESS

Enforcement Of Ordinance
Delayed; Many Fail To Pass Examination

Nearly 100 plumbers will be thrown out of work within the next week for failure to successfully pass a city examination or to file applications for the examination and plumbers' license, it was indicated today.

The recently-enacted plumbing ordinance which requires every master or journeyman operating within the city limits to pass a written and practical test and to obtain a license from a special examining board went into effect June 1. Because of the fact that license cards have not been received, its enforcement has been delayed by Building Superintendent H. C. Vandewater and Plumbers.

VOLUME XX NUMBER 241

Daily Greeting to News Readers

IT IS STRANGE—

How conservative the radical becomes when he gets into power.
What a difference it makes in a malcontent to own a little property.
How easily the prejudiced man finds support for his prejudices.

THE RACE PROBLEM

The boycott of the Prince of Wales by some of the negroes of Africa is characterized as a part of the new determination of the colored races, black, brown and yellow, no longer to be treated as inferior animals by the white man. Some thinkers and observers claim that this new self-consciousness and racial pride that has broken out in Asia and Africa is the biggest and the most upsetting thing in the world and that it is to be the chief problem of mankind for some generations.

There are some who already see the white race in subjection, and, while this is unthinkable to most of us, the fact remains that the race problem is a grave one. It is not best for humankind that the races should amalgamate. Inferiority always results from a mixture of blood. Yet the ends of the world are being drawn so closely together that the races must of necessity mingle and have commercial intercourse with each other. Deny it as we may, the white race has always felt superior, and resentment of our attitude has smoldered in the breasts of the dark races for a long time. With the World war it began to burst into flame.

When American women attending a great international convention for the promotion of peace refused to be entertained if colored women of their own country were included, it is supposed they had no idea of their inconsistency. Surely, brotherhood must be the foundation for any real peace between the nations and the races, and women who talk for peace and affront their sisters of another race are more anxious to be known as reformers than they are to accomplish results.

The race problem is a grave one. The world needs a great leader and the people need a conscience if it is to be solved without heartache and bloodshed.

PROHIBITION GAINS PRESTIGE

On the first of July the eighteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States will have been in effect six years, and there are still those who claim it is an evil law and cannot be enforced.

In a democracy the minority will must subordinate itself to the majority will, otherwise there is no democracy and the government is in bad repute. Herodotus, ancient Greek law-giver and philosopher, told the self-satisfied citizens of Athens: "You say you are free, you claim to be free and yet you are not free for there is that which is your master, the law." Ruskin says the necessity of restraint is as honorable to man as the necessity of labor.

Infringement of the Prohibition regulations is a breach of the law as much as any other and paves the way for disrespect and violation of other laws. The people as a whole have been indulgent and lenient toward those who have made a mockery of this law. But there is a change apparent in their attitude, great strides have been made in putting the bootlegger out of business in the past six months, and it looks as if federal prohibition would disappear from the joke column much sooner than its opponents had hoped. Public opinion is all powerful. When enforcement officials understand the people want enforcement they will be more diligent in pursuit of their duty and when the people see the officials are in earnest they will cheer them on. Prohibition was a radical change. It was too much to expect that it could be accomplished over night. But it is gaining in prestige and popularity.

OVER-CONFIDENT DRIVERS

The automobile driver who is over-confident may be as great a menace on the road as the one who is inexperienced. The novice at the wheel often becomes a nuisance to better drivers who are in a hurry, but as a rule he doesn't take any chances.

The one who has become an expert driver through long experience is often conscious of his superior ability and feels that it is almost impossible for him not to do the right thing. He has avoided accidents so often by a deft turn, a quick application of the brakes, or a step on the accelerator, that he begins to think his judgment of what the other fellow is going to do is infallible. So he takes greater chances and more of them. It is well to remember that one can never be sure what the pedestrian or the other driver is going to do, and that even the best drivers have had accidents.

WATCHING THE FIGHT

There are only three things that cause the people of the United States to take any interest in their government, according to the Billings, Montana, Gazette. These are a scandal, taxes and a fight.

If this is true, then the effort of Vice-President Dawes to reform Senate procedure will get our attention, for it is everywhere agreed that it will be a fight. The Senate will never voluntarily reform itself, never vote to weaken its own power unless compelled to do so. The change must be forced upon the Senate by the people, and the people really want to see the change made. The question is, do we want it badly enough to demand it of our senators? The purpose of the change is not to deprive the minority of the right to be heard, but to give the majority the right to legislate. That is the purpose for which we send our senators to Washington.

WOMEN LEADING

An observer calls attention to an interesting condition that prevails today. Not so many years ago there was a great cry for equal educational advantages for women. Today women have passed men and we are not even hoping or asking for equal education for men. Nearly all the men who matriculate in our colleges pursue technical subjects, while the women specialize in what is known as cultural courses, and this has resulted in giving women a more general knowledge and a broader perspective than men. While men, as a rule, go further in the professions and in specialized training, in general culture women are leading.

William Jennings Bryan has delivered 5000 lectures. Don't think they didn't get him anything.

HENPECKED!

Beating the Bank Crook

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The Empire Trust Co. of New York has recently issued a pamphlet in which it gives a dozen rules in regard to checks.

The use of checks in the United States has not come about by law, but merely by convenience. Ninety-five per cent of the business of the country is transacted by the use of checks or other credit instruments. This means that during 1924 we did some $500,000,000,000 of business, or one hundred times the money in circulation, by the use of six and a half billion bank checks.

Checks are used for convenience and also for safe keeping. The American Bankers' association has a large army of highly trained operatives, specialists, who are constantly watching out for those crooks who use checks in their business.

During the thirty years of service of the association, $1,212,000 was lost in 1632 burglaries by member bankers. In the same thirty years in 2374 burglaries non-member banks lost $4,170,000. That is, the non-member banks had forty-five per cent more burglaries and lost 240 per cent more in money than member banks.

The rules, slightly condensed, as given out by the Empire Trust Co., are as follows:

1. Use a pen, and if possible, a check protector, in making out a check. Do not write with a pencil.

2. Fill in all blank spaces.

3. Don't erase. Write a new check if you make a mistake.

4. Strangers are not always crooks, but crooks are usually strangers. Be careful about cashing checks for anybody you do not know.

5. Do not make a check payable to cash or bearer except when personally presented at the bank by yourself.

6. Do not put your signature alone on the check as an endorsement when you intend to deposit it. Write below or above your signature the words "for deposit only."

7. Never sign blank checks.

8. Take care of your cancelled vouchers as you would your valid checks.

9. Keep your check books locked up.

10. Watch out for the word "certified." Scrutinize all certified checks carefully.

11. The maker's O. K. or other form of approval on checks is easily forged. Look at it carefully.

12. Safeguard your checks as you would your money, for they represent money.

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNAIRD

Jottings from the notebook of an adventurer among books:

I. If you hold small objects to your eyes, you limit your field of vision and shut out the world.

And, in the same way, the people or things which stand nearest, even though they are of the very smallest consequence, are apt to claim an amount of attention much beyond their due, occupying us disagreeably, and leaving no room for serious thoughts and affairs of importance.

II. The mind attaches itself from indolence and from constancy to whatever is easy and agreeable to it.

This habit always sets limits to our knowledge. Who ever takes the trouble to enlarge and guide his mind to the extent of its capacities?

III. One thing which makes us find so few people who appear reasonable and agreeable in conversation is, that there is scarcely any one who does not think more of what he is about to say than of answering precisely what is said to him.

IV. How vain to try to teach youth or anybody truths. They can only learn them after their own fashion, and when they are ready.

V. There are many truths that cannot be proved.

VI. We more readily confess to errors, mistakes, and shortcomings in our conduct than in our thought.

The reason of it, Goethe says is that the conscience is humble and even takes pleasure in being ashamed.

"But the intellect is proud, and if forced to recant is driven to despair."

"This also explains how it is that truths which have been recognized are at first tacitly admitted, and then gradually spread, so that the very thing which was obstinately denied appears at last to be something quite natural."

Timely Views

The likelihood that President Coolidge will be called on once more to fill a vacancy in the United States supreme court and to do so before the next session of Congress is being quietly discussed in political and other quarters in Washington.

Retirement of Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, of Massachusetts, is talked of as a probability. According to current rumors, he will quit the beginning of the fall term, about October 1.

Justice Holmes, it is conceded, has richly earned the right to retire. He is 84 years old, was graduated from Harvard in 1861, had a brilliant Civil war record, being the times wounded and has served on the Supreme bench since 1902, when he was appointed by President Roosevelt. In spite of his advanced age Justice Holmes is keen of mind and has long been known as one of the court's hardest workers. Latterly he has seemed not as robust as usual, but at the same time he has kept up his end of the judicial duties in a manner to cause younger men to marvel.

In view of the age of Justice Holmes it has been repeatedly rumored in recent years that he would retire. However the work of the bench is becoming increasingly burdensome.

Thus far there is only vague speculation as to who would succeed him. Undoubtedly Democratic leaders would urge on the president the appointment of a Democrat, on the ground that the party is entitled to another member on the court. This would bring up such names as those of Senator Underwood and former Senator Shields, of Tennessee. It would be discretionary with the president, however, whether he would name a Republican or a Democrat.

CITY OF THIRSTY

LONDON, June 5.—The thirstiest city in the world? Sounds like a tall statement, doesn't it? But New York is the city of tall stories. And when I landed in New York I speedily discovered that the prohibition story is the tallest of them all! May Christie, the English novelist, writes this on her return from the United States.

LUMBER BUSINESS

NEW ORLEANS, June 5.—Orders at Southern Pine association mills last week showed orders decreased 4.8 per cent to 74,900,000, production totaled 74,500,000 and shipments 73,000,000 feet. Unfilled orders aggregate 245,400,000 feet.

SHANGHAI, China, June 5.—Nearly nine and a half million copies of the Bible were circulated in China during 1924.

RAIL CASE REOPENED

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The public service commission of Oregon today petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission to reopen the case wherein the Southern Pacific railroad was authorized to acquire control by lease and by stock ownership of the Central Pacific railroad, under certain conditions.

Horoscope

With Jupiter and Uranus in strongly beneficent sway, this should be a fairly favorable day, astrologers declare, even though Neptune and Mercury are adverse.

Business matters are subject to a favorable sway and should be pushed with all possible energy.

Although it is not a promising day for collections or the settlement of obligations, the rule is supposed to be helpful to all who sell at this time.

Jupiter smiles on lawyers, who are to have an active summer that provides unusual litigation.

The moon today enters Sagittarius, the sign governing the hips, liver and thighs. The vibrations may be rather enervating, although they incline toward nervous haste.

All the indications are that business dealings will be conducted on lines less kindly than at any previous time. It is well to be very cautious in making investments.

Neptune today is in a place supposed to encourage double-dealing and even dishonesty. Deceit and intrigue are inspired under the planetary government, it is declared by astrologers.

There is a sign held to forecast losses in the revenues of the government, owing to frauds and illicit enterprises.

Law enforcement is still subject to a sinister sway that threatens serious tragedies.

Uranus is in an aspect that is read to indicate trouble in the navy and a disaster to our ships. Mars, also, has a sinister message that bodes ill for the success of the peace societies. While it is not likely this country will be involved in difficulties, the stars appear to presage trouble through the sale or manufacture of munitions.

Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have changes or removals in the coming year. Success in business is to be expected, but love affairs may be disappointing.

Children born on this day may be restless and avid for adventure. They should be carefully

LOST DAYS

The lost days of my life until today,
What were they, could I see them
on the street
Lie as they fell? Would they be ears of wheat
Sown once for food but trodden
into clay?
Or golden coins squandered and still to pay?
Or drops of blood dabbling the guilty feet?
Or such spilt water as in dreams
must cheat
The undying throats of Hell, arising always?
I do not see them here; but after death
God knows I know the faces I shall see,
Each one a murdered self, with low last breath.

ing Inspector Delos Jones, members of the examining board. Jones announced today that nearly 100 journeymen plumbers have failed to take or pass the required tests. The papers of a number of applicants who recently took the examination will be passed on tonight by the examining board, and another test is scheduled for next Tuesday night. Weekly examinations will be held after that for plumbers who wish to obtain permits to work in Glendale. New plumbers coming here from other cities will be required to pass the test under the provisions of the ordinance.

Laxity Charged
Enforcement of the ordinance will be started within the next week, it was declared today.

"There has been considerable laxity on the part of journeymen plumbers in Glendale," said Jones, "who evidently believe that the ordinance will not or cannot be enforced. There is no doubt that considerable confusion will result because of the fact that other artisans may be held up in their work if plumbers must be called off jobs, but that is a feature that cannot be avoided."

"Journeymen who must be removed from jobs will be given the privilege of taking the tests on the Tuesday evening following, but some time will elapse even then before the examination results can be checked and the permits issued."

"The ordinance will be enforced despite any temporary inconvenience. It is a good thing for the city and is an iron-bound safeguard for builders, who can be assured that their plumbing is being installed by competent plumbers."

Woman Patriot Urges 'Yes' Vote On Bonds

Editor The Evening News—I would urge all patriotic citizens of Glendale to come out and vote yes on the Memorial Hall bonds June 16. What better advertisement could Glendale have than a Memorial Hall dedicated to the boys not only of the World war but our dear old comrades of '61, also having our patriotic orders meeting in one central place? In the business world we hear of concentrated effort and efficiency. Why not concentrated and united patriotism?

We, as members of the Daughters of Veterans, Mary Jane

Gillette Tent No. 18, will urge all our friends to vote yes on June 6. We are strictly a patriotic order and our main object is service to all members of all wars.

SOUTHERN BRANCH SETS GRADUATION

Sixth Commencement, U. C., S. B., Set For Friday;
225 In Class

The sixth commencement of the University of California, southern branch, will be held Friday morning, June 12, at 10 o'clock, in Millsap hall auditorium, on the campus. Two-thirds of the 225 students graduating will receive bachelor of arts degrees, while the other third will be awarded the degree of bachelor of education. This is an enormous increase over the twenty-five graduates of last year, and is explained by the fact that this is the first class graduating from the college of letters and science at the southern branch. Heretofore the university has been able to offer a complete course only in the teachers' college.

Baccalaureate services will be held at 4 o'clock Sunday, June 7, in Millsap hall auditorium. The invocation will be given by Dr. Arthur Baden, president of the California Christian college, and Dr. Willis Martin, pastor of the First Methodist church in Hollywood, will deliver the sermon. An informal meeting will be held on senior fellowship night, Tuesday, June 9, at 8:30, at the Alpha Phi sorority house, 1108 Heliotrope drive, and from 4 to 6 o'clock the following afternoon Director E. C. Moore will receive the class at his home, 327 South Kenmore avenue.

Senior Class Day

Exercises will begin on the campus at 10 o'clock on senior class day, Thursday, June 11. The class will make pilgrimages from building to building, where they will be addressed by Directors Moore, Dean C. H. Reiber, Dean M. L. Darsie, Dean Helen Matthews Laughlin, Dr. L. H. Miller of the faculty, and by Thelma Gibson, Fred Meyer Jordan, Dorothy Freeland, Jerold Weil and Alice Earley, of the graduates. The senior men's banquet will be held at the Hollywood Athletic club, at 7 o'clock, while the women are supporting a like affair at the Mary Louise cafe. Commencement speakers are Thelma Rustemeyer, Wilbur Shires, Helen Barker and Fred Meyer Jordan.

The senior ball will be given on the night of commencement day in the women's gymnasium. This class, which is to be known hereafter as the First Grizzly, has elected its officers for alumni administration: Jerold Weil, president; Thelma Gibson, first vice-president; Adaline Shearer, second vice-president; Joyce Turner, secretary; and Attilio Parisi, treasurer. These positions will be retained for five years.

Glendalians Will Have Musical Comedy Role

Elmer Fitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Fitz of 1322 North Louise street, is to take the part of Nanki-Poo in the production of "The Mikado," June 9, at the Ononta Military academy, South Pasadena. Proceeds from the opera will go to the orphans' home, to be erected in South Pasadena.

ATWATER PUPILS IN SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Four Students to Appear In Gigantic
Musical Organization Composed of
L. A. School Children

A record for schools of Los Angeles is believed to have been set at the Atwater grammar school, where four members of the school orchestra have been chosen to play in the Los Angeles Junior orchestra, an organization of 200 pupils, chosen from all schools of the city.

That there is probably no other school in the city so well represented in the Junior orchestra, regardless of its size or enrollment, is the belief of Miss Rosalind Gates, principal.

The four pupils, Gladys Teams, Genevieve Henderson, Bobby Conway and John Lowther, received their training under Miss Audrey Clinton, director. The orchestra will be heard in a number of selections at the graduating exercises now being planned.

Start Work On Church

Work on the new Atwater Catholic church, to be built on Boyce avenue near Appleton street, will be commenced Monday or Tuesday of next week, Father R. N. Murphy announced today. The frame building which occupied the middle lot on the new church site was moved today to permit the laying of the church foundation. Four months will be required to complete the new church. Father Murphy announced that he will shortly move the church rectory to 3722 Boyce avenue.

A dance will be held by members of the new Catholic parish on Saturday, June 20, at the Knights of Columbus hall in Glendale. The affair will be in charge of Misses Mary Sullivan, Margaret Calahan, Gertrude Skelly and Eileen Northrop.

There will be a parish card party at the present church headquarters, 3195 Glendale boulevard, next Friday night, June 12. Mesdames Cooney, Canning and Wiemer will be in charge.

Realty Firm Transfer

J. R. Holcomb, Atwater realty broker, with offices on Glendale boulevard, has taken over the business and office fixtures of the Tugman & Wilson realty firm, according to an announcement made today. Mr. Holcomb will operate his business from his present location in the future, he stated.

Delay Work On School

Because work on the new wing of the Atwater grammar school has been delayed so long, half-day sessions in many of the classrooms will still be necessary when school is reopened in September, Miss Rosalind Gates, principal, said today. Although bids have been advertised for, it will be around July 1 before actual work on the new addition will be started. There is no possibility of having the new classrooms ready to use by the time classes are resumed in September, it is said.

Pupils Decorate Float

Three truckloads of spring flowers furnished by children of the Atwater school were used to decorate the float appearing in the school Shrine parade in Los Angeles this afternoon, under the name of the California Street school. The Atwater school had no float in the parade, having assisted California Street school with its entry. School children were allowed a half-holiday this afternoon to witness the parade.

ad atwater pupils in Stag Party On Monday

AT VERDUGO CITY

VERDUGO CITY, June 5.—The water meeting scheduled for last night was postponed until Monday night on account of the Shrine convocation. At this week's meeting W. Davidson, chief engineer of the mechanical department for the county and his assistant P. S. Schoenard will speak. Members of the Crescenta Mutual Water Co., board of directors have been invited to meet with the property owners in a body and hear this talk. The meeting will be held in the Verdugo City auditorium and will open promptly at 8 o'clock.

The dance party which was to have been given Wednesday night for the members of Medinah Shrine will be held tonight, when Noble Harry N. Fowler will entertain about forty couples. Mr. Fowler is a member of the Chicago Shrine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Singleton of Honolulu avenue are touring the northern part of the state. They will visit in San Francisco before going to Salt Lake.

Change Location For Mixed Chorus Contest

Final Elsteddfod contest for mixed choruses, will be held Saturday night, June 13, at Hollywood High school auditorium, instead of at Bovard auditorium, according to Charles L. Munro, who is directing the Burbank Choral club, which won at Glendale.

PAGE NAMED HEAD OF MOLAY'S ORDER

George H. Page Is Master
Councillor; T. Wood, Jr.,
Senior; Elect Council

The semi-annual election of officers of the Glendale chapter, Order of De Molay, was held last night. Successful candidates were: George H. Page, master councillor; Mr. Page has been active in De Molay work since becoming a member of the order, having held minor offices, and last term served in the capacity of scribe. He was hard-pressed for the new office by Irvin E. Carver, who has been efficiently performing the duties of senior councillor.

Thomas Wood, Jr., senior councillor. Mr. Wood is also well known in De Molay work in Glendale, being a charter member of the local chapter and having served in several offices, his last being that of chaplain.

Harold T. Jones, junior councillor. Mr. Jones is another well-known De Molay. He is also a charter member of the Glendale chapter and has held several official positions during his membership.

Willard H. Miller, former treasurer, was elected to the office of scribe, which was vacated by Mr. Page upon his candidacy for master councillor. Miller has proven himself worthy of this position, and the chapter's records will be well handled.

Horace Brown, another prominent member, was elected to the office of treasurer, and the finances of the chapter are assured of most efficient care during the ensuing term.

"I'd as soon turn in my dog"

"Turn her in? Why should I? That old Ford is as good as she ever was. I'll get three years more work out of her anyway before she's through."

"Lubrication's the answer, of course. I've noticed that since I switched to that new Zerolene 'F' for Fords she runs like a clock and seems to have a bit more power too."

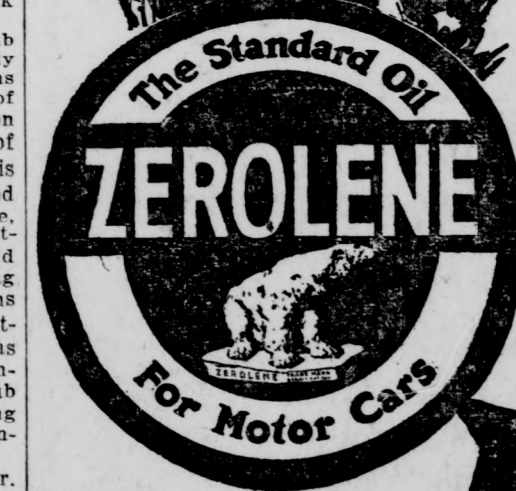

Zerolene "F" for Fords, the new Standard Oil Company lubricant developed especially for Fords, gets to all the bearings requiring lubrication—especially the wrist-pin bearings and the upper half of the cylinder walls that are frequently oil-starved when an unsuitable lubricant is used.

Zerolene "F" for Fords is made by the Standard Oil Company's patented vacuum process. It deposits a minimum of carbon, and because it lubricates better, enables the engine to develop a considerable margin of power over and above what you're accustomed to expect from your Ford.

And it costs not more, but less than most of the special Ford oils now on the market.

A Ford is an A-1 transportation investment. Protect your investment by proper lubrication.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

Mrs. C.—Whooping cough is an acute, infectious disease. It may be very serious. The younger the child, the more serious it is. There seems to be no doubt that the disease is due to a specific germ which attacks the mucous membrane of the throat and bronchial tubes.

The incubation period is from ten to fourteen days. (This means the time which elapses from the time when the germs are first received until they "incubate" or multiply sufficiently to produce symptoms.)

It is the characteristic paroxysm of coughing often followed by vomiting that makes the diagnosis especially during an epidemic. (The typical whoop may be absent.)

The disease may last from ten days to two or five weeks. If it lasts much longer, then there is the possibility that some other cause than the original whooping cough, is at fault. Perhaps the bronchial lymph glands are causing the irritation. It occasionally happens that the habit of coughing is established. In such cases, it is more of a nervous reaction.

The disease is most infectious in the beginning before the typical cough develops, but the child should be kept away from other children at any stage, for whooping cough weakens the resistance so that other diseases may more readily be contracted.

If the child is having very severe paroxysms, he should be kept in bed in a warm room, free from drafts, but with the windows open so that the air is kept fresh. As soon as the worst stage is over, he should be kept out of doors as much as possible.

One of the reasons that the child becomes so run down in this disease, is the frequent vomiting. It is often found that a child will retain something after vomiting, so some nourishing drink or custard or junket, should always be given. The semi-solid foods, such as cereals, jellies, custards and junket and thick broths are better retained. Too hot or too cold articles of food should be avoided because sometimes these will bring on the spasms.

A snug abdominal binder, extending well down over the hips and up to the arms, will act as a support and keep the paroxysms less severe.

Sometimes the coughing is so severe that medicines have to be given, but of course, these must be given under the personal supervision of your physician. Vaccines seem to be effective in some cases, but these are not universal.

Twins.—Mrs. J.—Twins of the same sex, identical features, coloring, etc.—the so-called identical or homologous twins—are developed from a single ovum (egg), with a double nucleus. (It can be compared to a double yolked egg.) These twins are relatively rare. Twins and triplets that are not identical are the result of the fertilization of two or three ova respectively.

While absolute proof is lacking, it looks as though the tendency to multiple pregnancies is inherited. As the inheritance may come from the father's side as well as the mother's, there must be the possibility of the sperm cells having double nuclei.

Twins up to the fifth year of life haven't quite the vitality that single born babies have. After the fifth year, the mortality of twins and non-twins is about the same.

Mrs. A.—We have articles on thumb sucking, bedwetting and eczema which will answer your questions. (Enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope with your request.)

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The paper will be reduced and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. We will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of a general nature, I will try to answer them. If you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

CANNING THE PINEAPPLE

TOMORROW'S MENU
Breakfast: Berries, Cereal, Fried Eggs and Bacon, Coffee.
Luncheon: Baked Beans, Celery, Catsup, Rolls, Jelly, Tea.
Dinner: Celery Soup, Lamb Chops, Cauliflower, Lettuce, French Dressing, Steamed Fruit Pudding, Coffee.

To can pineapple in your wash boiler, begin by paring, coring and then removing the eyes. Cut into pieces of convenient size and put these into a saucepan with cold water to cover well; bring to the boiling point and let continue to simmer for about five minutes before draining and packing in hot, sterilized, quart-size jars. Keep the filled jars hot by wrapping them in cloths wrung out of hot water, while you make this sirup.

Sirup.—Measure the water in which the pineapple pieces were simmered and to it add one-third its measure of sugar; merely bring this mixture to the boil and then add it to the pine-apple-filled jars, letting it rise to within one-half inch of jar top. Put in new rubbers, sterilized glass covers, and put up two-wire not to press down side wire (or, with certain standard make jar, screw down the cover with the thumb and little finger—which will not be very tight). Stand the jars in this way in your wash boiler.

Many housewives, in the past, have used the Cold Pack Method and will not understand why a fruit or vegetable needs be pre-cooked before being put into the jars. But United States Canning experts, in Miscellaneous Circular No. 24 (published by Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., at five cents per copy) says: "In short, pre-cooking of fruits and vegetables shrinks them and makes it possible to fill the jars hot, which decreases the time required for the material in the center of the jar to reach the temperature of the canner during processing."

CARE OF THE FEET

This is the worst time of all the year for feet that have anything the matter with them. A slight corn that has given no trouble all the winter will develop unbearable twinges with the hot days, while a really serious foot complaint will start sympathetic pains all over the body. Therefore learn at once to be your own chiropodist, for headaches and backaches and many apparently unrelated troubles will cease when your feet are comfortable.

Purchase a corn knife, some manicure emery board, a small bottle of collodion, a little bit of white felt and a stick of sealing wax. Soak the feet for twenty minutes in a basin of quite hot soap water. The corns, which are hard callous skin, will soften and swell as they take up the water, so the top layers can be easily removed with the corn knife. All callous skin should be shaved down as far as possible, being careful not to cut the live skin. If you do this, touch the place at once with peroxide of hydrogen to make it antiseptic. Callouses not developed enough to need cutting can be filled off with the emery board. All places filled or cut should then be painted with the collodion, which dries instantly.

For the corns cut a bit of the felt the shape of a long, narrow horseshoe. Put a little petroleum jelly on a small dab of absorbent cotton over the corn. Melt a little sealing wax (the thick brown gummy sticks sold in drug stores) on to the felt and put instantly over the corn and that bit of cotton wool. These horseshoe shaped shields are very easy to adjust.

Miss M. S.—Use a mixture of almond meal and powdered borax for cleansing your skin of blackheads. Massage with cream or oil afterward and then close the pores with very cold water or an ice rub. You had better not use astringents except a few drops of benzoin in about a quart of water, since your skin is so sensi-

For Mrs. Toll

The farewell luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., at her home, 347 North Orange street, honoring Mrs. Charles H. Toll, who is leaving June 28 for a trip abroad, proved a most enjoyable gathering of past presidents of Glendale Federation, Parent-Teacher associations, and a small group of others who have been closely associated with Glendale schools and P-T. A. activity.

Yellow was the color used in the luncheon appointments. A saucy, flapper figure in yellow gown, trimmed with pearls, was the centerpiece, while placecards bore tiny gilt boats with graceful yellow sails, and yellow favor baskets. During the luncheon each guest was presented with a humorous toy favor.

Reminiscences of past years, singing, story telling and conundrums provided entertainment features. Mrs. Toll was presented with a packet of letters to read on her trip across the Atlantic. Among anecdotes and poems given was the following original poem by Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson:

Harken! my children, come with me And I will show you a sight to see. It is a sign that beckons near, "Second-hand autos are sold here." There you will find some once grand;

Some that have truly hit the sand; Some that ran ten thousand mile Now all have found this famous junk pile.

Some had upholstery of plush and silk; Some had cotton and cheaper ilk; Some had rheumatiz in their joints; Others had no magnet points;

Horns that once gave you a thrill Are now lying prostrate and still; Some that scattered nuts and bolts, And whose hind seat was famous

Are classed with the Buick, Stude, and Cad. Making their owners look most sad. A worthless lot you'll surely say. What an awful price for speed to pay.

Once they were king of the road To pay their bills was an awful load. Now they look so meek and low, Once a hint of an auto show. Once like a peacock they stalked our street.

Chasing policemen off their beat; Fame for a day was theirs to glean. But what my children 'tis only a dream. 'Tis the past presidents of the P-T.

Mrs. White's guests were Dr. Jessie A. Russell, Mesdames J. F. Padelford, Charles H. Toll, Charles E. Hutchinson, Arthur Brown, Eva Barton, E. B. Moore, O. H. Spradling, H. V. Henry, O. P. Greenwalt, George U. Moyses, Alexander Mitchell and Misses Annie L. McIntyre, Carrie Noble, E. Daniels, Gertrude Gibbs, Catherine Orff and Katherine V. Sinks.

The HOUSE of the ARROW

A SERIAL STORY WRITTEN BY A. E. W. MASON
Protected By The McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"The study of poisons is particularly my work," he answered shortly. "Even at the surety we have to specialize nowadays," and he turned rather quickly towards Frobisher. "You are thoughtful, Monsieur?"

Jim was following out his own train of thought.

"Yes," he answered. Then he spoke to Betty.

"Boris Waberski had a latch-key, I suppose?"

"Yes," she replied.

"He took it away with him?"

"I think so."

"When are the iron gates locked?"

"It is the last thing Gaston does before he goes to bed."

Jim's satisfaction increased with every answer he received.

"You see, Monsieur Hanaud," he cried, "all this while we have been leaving out a question of importance. Who put this book back upon its shelf? And when? Yesterday at noon the space was empty. This morning it is filled. Who filled it? Last night we sat in the garden after dinner behind the house. What could have been easier than for Waberski to slip in with his latch-key at some moment when the court was empty, replace the book and slip out again unnoticed? Why—"

A gesture of Betty's brought him to a halt.

"Unnoticed? Impossible!" she said bitterly. "The police have a sergeant-de-ville at our gates, night and day."

Hanaud shook his head.

"There is no longer. After you were good enough to answer me so frankly yesterday morning the questions it was my duty to put to you, I had him removed at once."

"Why, that's true," Jim exclaimed joyfully. He remembered now that when he had driven up with his luggage from the hotel in the afternoon, the street of Charles-Robert had been quite empty. Betty Harlowe stood taken aback by her surprise. Then a smile made her face friendly; her eyes danced to the smile, and she slipped to the detective a little mock curtsy. But her voice was warm with gratitude.

"I thank you, Monsieur. I did not notice yesterday that the man had been removed, or I should have thanked you before. Indeed I was not looking for so much consideration at your hands. As I told my friend Jim, I believed that you went away thinking me guilty."

Hanaud raised a hand in protest. To Jim it was the flourish of the sword with which the duelist saluted at the end of the bout. The little secret combat between these two was over. Hanaud, by removing the sergeant from before the gates, had given a sign surely not only to Betty but to all Dijon that he had found nothing to justify any surveillance of her goings out and comings in, or any limitations upon her freedom.

"Then you see," Jim insisted. He was still worrying at his solution of the case like a dog with a bone. "You see Waberski had the road clear for him last night."

Betty, however, would not have it. She shook her head vigorously.

"I won't believe that Monsieur Boris is guilty of so horrible a murder. More," and she turned her great eyes pleadingly upon Hanaud, "I don't believe that any murder was committed here at all. I don't want to believe it," and for a moment her voice faltered.

"After all, Monsieur Hanaud, what are you building this dreadful theory upon? That a book of my Uncle Simon was not in his library yesterday and is there today. We know nothing more. We don't know even whether Jean Cladel exists at all."

"We shall know that, Mademoiselle," said Hanaud, staring down at the book upon the table.

"We don't know whether the arrow is in the house, whether it ever was."

"We must make sure, Mademoiselle," said Hanaud stubbornly.

"And even if you had it now, here with the poison clinging in shreds to the shaft, you still couldn't be sure that the rest of it had been used. Here is a report, Monsieur, from the doctors. Because it says that no trace of the poison can be discovered, you can't infer that a poison was administered which leaves no trace. You never can prove it. You have nothing to go upon. It's all guesswork, and guesswork which will keep us living in a nightmare. Oh, if I thought for a moment that murder had been committed, I'd say, 'Go on, go on!' But it hasn't. Oh, it hasn't!"

Betty's voice rang with so evident a sincerity, there was so strong a passion of appeal, for peace, for an end of suspicion, for a right to forget and be forgotten that Jim fancied no man could resist it. Indeed, Hanaud sat for a long while with his eyes bent upon the table before he answered her. But when at last he did, gently though his voice began, Jim knew at once that she had lost.

"You argue and plead very well, Mademoiselle Betty," he said. "But we have each of us our little creeds by which we live for better or for worse. Here is mine, a very humble one. I can discover extenuations in most crimes—even crimes of violence. Passion, anger, even greed! What are they but good qualities developed beyond the bounds? Things at the beginning good and since grown monstrous! So, too, in the execution. This or that habit of life makes natural this or that weapon which to us is hideous and abnormal and its mere use a sign of a dreadful depravity. Yes, I recognize these palliations. But there is one crime I never will forgive—murder by poison. And one criminal in whose pursuit I will never tire nor slacken, the Poisoner."

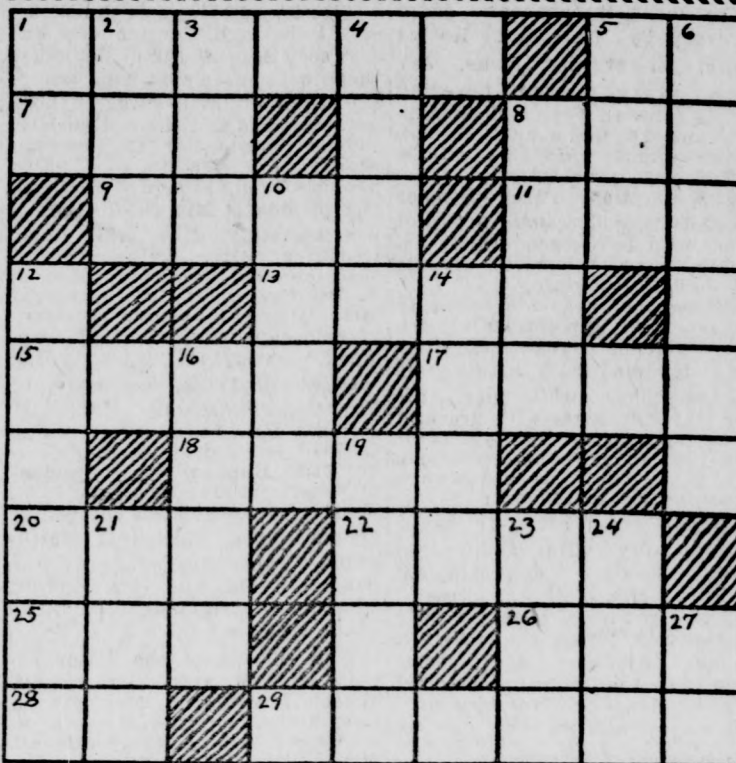

"Through the words there ran a real thrill of hatred, and though Hanaud's voice was low, and he never once raised his eyes from the table, he held the three who listened to him in a dreadful spell."

"Cowardly and secret, the poisoner has his little world at his mercy, and a fine sort of mercy he shows to 'be sure,' he continued bitterly. "His hideous work is so easy. It just becomes a vice like drink, no more than that to the poisoner, but with a thousand times the pleasure drink can give. Like the practice of some abominable art. I tell you the truth now! Show me one victim today and the poisoner scot-free, and I'll show you another victim before the year's out. Make no mistake! Make no mistake!"

His voice rang out and died away. But the words seemed still to vibrate in the air of that room, to strike the walls and rebound from them and still be audible. Jim Frobisher, for all his slow imagination, felt that had a poisoner been present and heard them, some cry of guilt must have rent the silence and betrayed him. His heart stopped in its beats listening for a cry, though his reason told him there was no

HOW TO SOLVE THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE

The way to solve the Cross Word Puzzle is to fill in the white squares of the diagram with the words which agree with the accompanying definitions. The definitions are numbered to correspond with the numbers on the diagram. Any word defined in the text under "HORIZONTAL" will begin at its number, shown on the diagram, and will extend all the way across to the first black square to the right of that number. That is, the word must begin in the square that contains its identifying number, and extend as far as the white squares continue uninterruptedly. Any word defined under "VERTICAL" will also begin in the white square that contains its number, but will extend downward as far as the white spaces remain uninterrupted.

mouth in that room from which the cry could come.

Hanaud looked up at Betty when he had finished. He begged her pardon with a little flutter of his hands and a regretful smile.

"You must take me, therefore, as God made me, Mademoiselle, and not blame me more than you can help for the distress I still must cause you. There was never a case more difficult. Therefore, never one about which one way or the other I must be more sure."

Before Betty could reply there came a knock upon the door.

"Come in!" Hanaud cried out, and a small, dark, alert man in plain clothes entered the room.

"This is Nicolas Moreau, who was keeping watch in the courtyard. I sent him some while ago upon an errand," he explained, and turned again to Moreau.

"Well, Nicolas?"

Nicolas stood at attention, with his hands at the seams of his trousers, in spite of his plain clothes, and he recited, rather than spoke, in a perfectly expressionless, official voice.

"In accordance with instructions I went to the shop of Jean Cladel. It is number seven. From the Rue Gambetta I went to the prefecture. I verified your

"Thank you, Nicolas," Moreau saluted, turned on his heel, and went out of the room. There followed a moment of silence, of discouragement. Hanaud looked ruefully at Betty.

"You see! I must go on. We must search in that locked cabinet of Simon Harlowe's for the poison arrow, if by chance it should be there."

"The room is sealed," Frobisher reminded him.

"We must have those seals removed," he replied, and he took his watch from his pocket and screwed up his face in grimace.

UNCLE WIGGILY

UNCLE WIGGILY GOES FISHING

"What do you think we ought to have for dinner this evening, Nurse Jane?" asked Mrs. Longears of the muskrat lady housekeeper one morning.

"Let me see," murmured Miss Fuzzy Wuzzly, looking at the clock. "This is Friday, so I should say it would be proper to have fish."

"The very thing!" cried Uncle Wiggily himself, who was sitting on the porch, twinkling his pink nose and wondering what adventure he would have that day. "I'll go off in the woods and catch some fish for you. It will be a jolly time for me."

"I didn't know you were a fishing rabbit?" said Mrs. Longears to her new husband. "But then, you see, we haven't been married very long, and I dare say there are lots of things I don't know about you."

"Yes, I suppose so!" laughed the bunny. "But ask Nurse Jane—she will tell you I always bring home fish when I go fishing."

"But can you get any fish in the woods?" his wife wanted to know.

"Through the woods flows a brook, and in the brook are fishes which I will catch with a hook!" sang Mr. Longears. "Nurse Jane will fry them in a pan, and I will eat just all I can!" he went on.

Then he jumped about, getting his fishing pole, line and hooks from the closet, and soon he hopped off to the brook in the woods.

Reaching a shady place, the bunny gentleman put a piece of sugar cookie on his hook for bait, cast it into the water and waited for a bite.

Now it happened that Jingle and Jangle, two of the little rabbit girls, were let out of the Hollow Stump School early that day. Hopping home along the woodland path, Jingle and Jangle looked through the bushes and saw Uncle Wiggily sitting on the bank of the brook, fishing.

"Oh, let's play a joke on him!" whispered Jingle.

"How?" asked Jangle.

"We'll hide behind a tree," went on Jingle, "and when he catches a fish we'll make believe talk like one and we'll say: 'Please don't catch me, Uncle Wiggily. Please put me back in the water. I don't want to be cooked in a pan!' We'll pretend the fishes are talking!"

Jangle thought that would be a good joke, so they waited, and pretty soon Uncle Wiggily felt his line jerked, the tip of his pole bent down and he cried: "I've got a bite!" Up out of the water he pulled a fish.

But, just as the bunny was taking the fish off the hook, a voice said:

"Oh, please don't catch me, Uncle Wiggily! Please put me back in the water. I don't want to be fried in a pan!"

Mr. Longears was rather surprised to hear a fish (as he thought) talking to him. But he was very kind hearted. So he tossed the fish back into the water, saying:

"I'll try again, and land one that doesn't mind being caught." But no sooner had he pulled out the second fish than again a voice said:

"Oh, please put me back in the water, Uncle Wiggily!" Of course, it was Jingle and Jangle, hidden in the bushes, who were talking like fishes, but the bunny didn't know this.

"If I don't want to be caught, either!" laughed Mr. Longears, and back into the stream he tossed the second fish. It was the same way with all he caught. Each one seemed to beg to be put back, and the bunny kindly did so.

At last it was time to go home, and Uncle Wiggily, though he had caught many fish, hadn't one to take home, and it was Friday. "But I know what I can do!" chuckled the bunny. "I'll go to the five and ten cent store and buy a can of sardines. They're fish, even if I didn't catch them myself."

And when he gave his wife and Nurse Jane the can of sardines how the animal ladies laughed! And so did Uncle Wiggily when Jingle and Jangle told him the trick they had played. But Mr. Longears didn't care, for he had been kind to the fish. And the sardines were very tasty, made up into a pie with apple sauce trimming.

So if the tongue of the lace shoe will tell what the eye of the needle sees when it peeks through the button hole, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the honeysuckle.

TRUCK DRIVER MEADOWS ILL INJURED IN COLLISION

Heavy Machine Demolished
When Struck By Engine
At Grade Crossing

Philip Pullara, 24, was probably fatally injured shortly before 9 o'clock this morning when a heavy gravel truck he was driving was struck and demolished by a Southern Pacific locomotive at the Goodwin avenue crossing.

Pullara, who resides at 422 South Avenue 19, Los Angeles, sustained deep gashes in his head and may have suffered internal injuries. He is at the Glendale hospital.

Driving a Harris & Hull twelve-ton gravel truck of heavily constructed steel, Pullara approached the crossing as the light locomotive "dead-heading" into the Los Angeles yards of the Southern Pacific is said to have come from Burbank at a rapid rate of speed.

Hurled Twenty Feet
Pullara told police investigators that he did not hear a warning signal. He said he saw the locomotive when it neared the crossing too late to get out of its way.

The big truck was struck after the front end had cleared the track, throwing Pullara twenty feet to the side. The locomotive was brought to a stop nearly 250 yards from the scene of the crash, police said.

MEADOWS ILL SON PLEADS IN COURT

'Factory' Owner Charged
With Violation Of Labor
Law Fails Judge Lowe

Without the defendant appearing in court, but with his son, Rush Meadows, under federal indictment and at liberty under $35,000 bond, appearing in his defense, the trial of Okey Meadows on a charge of violation of the state labor laws was begun today in Police Judge F. H. Lowe's court.

Rush Meadows has been indicted by the federal grand jury on a charge of violation of the Harrison narcotic act. He is also facing a federal bond forgery charge with Fred T. Keller, Charles R. Sweeney and Dave L. Learner.

Trial of his father on a charge of obtaining merchandise under false pretenses from Glendale merchants was also scheduled to be tried before a jury in Judge Lowe's court at 9 o'clock this morning. Neither the defendant nor his son, who is representing him, appeared at that time, however. Later Rush Meadows told Judge Lowe, when he was called by telephone at his Los Angeles office, that he "thought the trial was scheduled for 10 o'clock," and that his father had returned yesterday from Mexico and was seriously ill.

Meadows brought with him a physician's certificate stating that the elder Meadows is too ill to appear in court. Judge Lowe said that he would ask Dr. G. Kaemmerling, city physician, to examine Okey Meadows.

Charges Preferred
The elder Meadows, at liberty under $300 bond in the local cases, is alleged to have obtained possession of a factory on San Fernando road near Grand View avenue, on the strength of his statement that he and his son had extensive mining interests in Kentucky and Virginia, it is claimed. He planned to start the manufacture of tile and brick and other building materials and obtained wide credit.

A large force of men was hired. Complaints were lodged with the state labor bureau after the first month of operations by his employees that they had received no pay for their work. Charges were filed against him.

The second charge, alleging obtaining of merchandise under false pretenses was preferred after he is claimed to have obtained two suits of clothes from a local clothier and secured credit on the strength of his "factory" and his alleged mining interests.

A venire from which the jury was to be selected was present in Judge Lowe's court this morning to try the second charge. It was dismissed, however, when he failed to appear, and the case has been continued until a report is received from Dr. Kaemmerling as to Meadows' condition.

PASADENA, June 5.—Visiting Nobles of Abdalla shrine temple, Leavenworth, Kan., will be guests of honor at a picnic here Sunday. The Leavenworth society of California announced today. Noah and Walter Beery, picture stars, formerly of Kansas, will attend. A motion picture of the picnic will be made.

Soviet Propaganda Is Distributed to Chinese

evidence that the general strike of Chinese against foreigners and foreign commercial concessions was a carefully worked out plot to make China a "red" or Soviet republic.

Strike Ranks Growing

The 150,000 men who joined the strikers included a thousand house servants. It was estimated that 6 per cent of the police force is out. Strikers were fired on by a Japanese mill owner at Pootung who shot five of them. Those remaining at work in his factory were being intimidated.

The municipal council claims to have evidence that Russian propagandists are fostering the riots. The food supply of the foreign quarter has been endangered, it being impossible to obtain vegetables. Ice is hard to get.

Agitators have called out all servants in the United States consulate and the United States court, thus compelling wives of the consuls to do their own cooking and house work.

The reputed Soviet plot to make a Soviet republic of China had its inception a year ago. The documents and letters brought to light were alleged to be communications which passed between M. Karakhan, Soviet ambassador to Japan, who is at Peking, and local Soviet propagandists.

These documents indicate large sums of money paid to workers. The letters recite shipments of quantities of arms, including machine guns, mines, bombs and pistols from Russia to Shanghai in the last six months. These, the letters said, were being distributed among the Chinese students' "death battalion" and among seamen.

The strike was plotted to begin with Japanese cotton mills in China, because, the letters said, the Japanese were the most vulnerable of all foreigners in the country.

Spread Propaganda
Student leaders were instructed to bring on a clash with the municipal police in order to force firing and consequent bloodshed so Chinese generally would be aroused.

The Soviets were declared to be spreading propaganda in the army and endeavoring to enroll Russian white soldiers in the movements and have them come to Shanghai as instructors in bombing and machine guns. They were said to have been offered amnesty and high pay, but the majority of the whites refused to join the Soviets.

More Unusual Weather For Shriners' Benefit

Glendale was visited by a rain and hailstorm early this afternoon during which .17 of an inch of rain fell, according to H. E. Bartlett, observer for The Glendale Evening News. The rain began falling at 12:25, turning into a heavy hailstorm which continued for ten minutes. Mr. Bartlett stated that the rainfall at this date last year was 3.75 inches, while the rainfall today brings the total for this season up to 11.13 inches. This is an increase of 2.43 inches over last year's rainfall at this date.

FINAL HONORS ARE PAID TO ATTORNEY

Impressive Funeral Services
Held At Masonic Temple
For John Everson

So live that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon; but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave,
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Such was the final tribute paid yesterday afternoon to John Everson, attorney and prominent Mason, who died June 2 at his Glendale home, at impressive memorial services held in Masonic temple, under the auspices of Glendale commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, with Mr. Everson's brother, William Everson of Nebraska, reading William Cullen Bryant's poetical masterpiece, "Thanatopsis," from which the above lines are taken. The poem was a favorite of Mr. Everson's, and was a fitting tribute on the closing of a long and useful career.

Friends of the deceased from near and far filled the lodge hall, and a profusion of beautiful California flowers bespoke the high esteem in which Mr. Everson was held, and the love and sympathy of relatives and friends.

Memorial Services
Charles L. Peckham, past commander of Glendale commandery, and close friend of Mr. Everson, served in the capacity of commander for the solemn service of the Knights Templar. O. E. Von Oven served as prelate, and Rev. Charles M. Calderwood, pastor of First Congregational church, and a brother Knight, delivered an eloquent memorial address. Playing his own accompaniment, A. E. Flyer, organist of the commandery, sang beautifully, "Crossing the Bar" and "Abide With Me." "Thanatopsis" was read by Mr. Everson's brother.

Final tribute was paid at the grave in Forest Lawn Memorial park. Pallbearers were Percy Prichard, Dr. Roy V. Hogue, W. G. Black, E. K. Daniels, Daniel Campbell, Mattison Boyd Jones, W. H. Reynolds and David Crofton, all Knights Templar.

Family in Attendance

Members of Mr. Everson's family in attendance at the services were: His widow, Mrs. Ruth C. Everson; daughter, Ruth Joan Everson; daughter, Dorothy Pane Bolt; son, A. L. Bolt and wife, of Glendale; son, G. K. Bolt and wife, of Culver City; son, R. B. Bolt and wife of Portland, Ore.; sister, Mrs. C. W. Griffin and family, of Hollywood; brother, P. M. Everson, of Alma, Neb.; brother, William Everson and daughter, of Alma, Neb.; and niece, Miss Louise Baker, of Alma, Neb.

Mr. Everson, who was a native of Indiana, was a prominent attorney in Glendale for approximately five years. Prior to that time he practiced law in Los Angeles for about the same length of time. He was a member of Glendale Bar association, and an active civic worker. He came to Los Angeles about ten years ago, from Nebraska, where he had an extensive law practice. Besides being a Knights Templar and Shriner, Mr. Everson was a prominent member of Glendale Horse-shoe club. His death occurred at his home, 611 North Central avenue, after poor health of a year, and more recent illness of two weeks' duration. Kiefer & Flyerick were in charge of the funeral.

Visiting Shriners Get Big Glendale Welcome

Visiting Shriners continued to pour into Glendale today, the registration lists at the Shrine headquarters, 109 North Brand boulevard, showing no letup in the number of outsiders touring the city during the Shrine convocation in Los Angeles. No official program for the city was scheduled for today, visiting Shriners being shown the city by automobile in private parties.

Glendale Shriners who marched three companies strong in the official parade last night, will join in the progressive ball to be staged at the Biltmore and Ambassador hotels and the Warner Bros.-Vitaphone studio tonight. Under the direction of Lloyd H. Wilson, Dr. R. P. Cartley and S. S. Gilhuly, Glendale Shrine companies made an impressive showing in the official parade. Headed by the Glendale Drum and Bugle corps, they were cheered throughout the line of march by thousands who witnessed the parade.

Target Practice Leads Citizen To Complain

Rabbit stew may be all right in its place, but Charles B. Egbert, 1246 North Everett street, doesn't want the hunters to stalk the rabbits in his neighborhood. Egbert complained to the police that men working on a new building nearby "make a practice" of shooting at rabbits in his vicinity. He is afraid of stray bullets, he said.

FLOOD ACTION IS HINTED BY BOARD

Supervisor Wright Tells Storm County Body Ready
To Work On Plan

Formation of a storm drain district as the first step toward controlling flood conditions in the Casa Verdugo and north Glendale districts today loomed as a probability within the next few months, with the receipt by City Manager V. B. Stone of a letter from Supervisor Henry W. Wright of Los Angeles county declaring that the Board of Supervisors is ready to cooperate.

"Your letter regarding the formation of a storm drain district between the city of Glendale and Casa Verdugo territory was presented to the board and instructions were given to the county surveyor to cooperate with your survey in every way possible," Wright said in his letter, "leading to the formation of such a district by the two communities affected."

"I am sure the formation of such a district is a step in the right direction as Casa Verdugo and nearby territory has for a long time been menaced by storm water from the foothills."

The city will probably proceed at once to form the district, it was said today at the city hall.

Realty Class Prepares For School Diplomas

Emergency steps to expedite the correction of papers, so that graduation exercises of the Glendale Realty board extension class will not be unduly delayed, were urged by a special committee of the board in a communication to Harrison Lewis, state educational chairman, today. A total of ten Southern California classes are waiting to have their papers corrected by University of Southern California officials at the present time. An inadequate staff is maintained for this work by the university, the local realtors believe.

City Receives Report On Laying Of Mains

A total of 3,088 feet of sewer mains were laid in section No. 3 of the Glendale intercepting mains by Charles and George K. Thompson during May, according to a report furnished City Manager V. B. Stone. There will be 17,676.83 feet laid when the section is completed.

In section No. 2, in charge of C. E. Green, contractor, 2,570 feet were laid and in section No. 1, where the work is being done by George K. Thompson, there were 410 feet of mains installed.

Albert Cohn Inc., and Morris Bros. Meat Shop Open Saturday

Drug Store to Open Soon

Designed and Built by H. P. Siberell
FINE NEW BUILDING AT N. CENTRAL AND CALIFORNIA AVE.

Marking the culmination of a thirty-eight years of successful marketing, during which period a tremendous grocery business has been built up that extends far beyond the borders of Southern California, the latest addition to the activities of Albert Cohn, Inc., with a modern grocery and delicatessen opens Saturday at Central and California avenues.

Albert Cohn first began the grocery business in a small way on Commercial street, Los Angeles, in 1887. Today the Glendale store is the seventeenth to be established, while the mail order business of Albert Cohn, Inc., extends throughout all of the Pacific coast states and beyond the barrier of the Rockies.

Built on a reputation for handling only the highest class of merchandise at reasonable prices, the business today has assumed all the most gigantic proportions. At the headquarters at 500 West Washington street, Los Angeles, the main warehouse is located, all the bread, pastries, cookies and cakes are baked, all of the vinegar is bottled, all of the jams and salad dressings and other things of that nature are manufactured and canned and bottled.

With the Albert Cohn, Inc., store will be the Morris Brothers, who have been fattened for four years, one of the finest equipped buttermilk it is killed, and then it will be picked.

With a finely-equipped drug store, Harold E. Pratt, formerly a Los Angeles druggist, will open a pharmacy in the corner store room, with 1200 feet of floor space. Pratt, who has had fifteen years' experience as registered pharmacist, will have one of the most completely equipped prescription departments in the city. He will be assisted by one other registered pharmacist and two fountain aids.

The various sub-contractors are: Co-operative Sheet Metal Works, rear 111 South Orange street; A. L. Burson, plastering contractor, 375 West Broadway; P. J. Nelson, plumbing contractor, 1611 East Glenoaks boulevard; George L. Patterson, electrical contractor, 646 Maple street, L. A.; Adams & McKee Hardware Co., 128 South Main street, L. A.

At the Italian marble fountain Christopher's ice cream and sandwiches and cakes will be served. A free delivery system will be maintained. Pratt expects to buy his home in Glendale, and to reside here permanently with his wife and their year and a half old child.

The two-story brick building in which the new businesses have been installed is owned by Dr. Alexander A. MacIntyre, and was built by Harvey P. Siberell, Glendale contractor. It is sixty feet long by sixty feet wide, with apartments on the second floor.

LEWIS STONE, appearing in "Inez from Hollywood" at the Cosmo theatre.

Big Mystery

Picturized story by famous secret service man shown today and tomorrow at Glendale theatre.

Evidence that a fine stage schooling and a constant adherence to the highest ideals of the acting profession is not unappreciated in motion pictures is furnished by the career of Lewis S. Stone, now playing in First National's "Inez from Hollywood," as a co-star with Anna Q. Nilsson, now showing at the Cosmo theatre.

Stone was born in Worcester, Mass., and attended the public schools before going to Bernard Military academy in New York City. He entered the army at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, and began his stage career immediately upon his return from service. Although he scored his first stage success in New York, he later gained nation-wide fame as the leading man of the old Belasco Stock company in Los Angeles.

After six years of this he returned to New York with the premier company of "The Bird of Paradise." After that he played leading roles in "The Misleading Lady," "Inside the Lines," "Bunny" with Charlotte Walker in "Nancy Lee," "Where Poppies Bloom," with Marjorie Rambeau, and "The Brat."

TOM MIX REMAINS STAR AT GATEWAY

Western Actor Is Seen In Role Of Old English Coach Robber

Dick Turpin, England's smiling young coach robber who "stuck up" the coaches of the rich, gave much to the poor, and spent the balance rollicking with the other "gay young blades" in the Drury Lane resorts of London, found himself short of funds one drizzly day in April, 1735, and set out to mend his fortunes. This is showing at the Gateway theatre today and Saturday.

Learning that a farmer near Ripple Side had just sold a flock of sheep, he made his way into the house and presented a pistol at the man's head.

"If you sold your sheep wisely you should have about seven hundred pounds," he said. "And as that's too much of the king's rag for any farmer to have I'll relieve ye. Tell me where it is or you wife becomes a widow."

Mix As Turpin

The huge horse pistol added to the grimness of the threat and the farmer gave up the money. Bonny Black Bess, the fleetest mare in England sped away and that night Dick Turpin was betting huge sums of money on a favorite prize fighter at a bout in the Blue Boar Inn in London.

Turpin, whose gorgeous costumes, smiling courtesy and deeds of daring made him the most famous of England's highway robbers, has been put on the screen as "Dick Turpin" and as the bold bandit Tom Mix, William

WRITER EXTOLLS MARSHALL'S LIFE

Late Vice-President Praised For Even Disposition And American Ways

By ROBERT T. SMALL, Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—All that was mortal of Thomas Riley Marshall was taken away from Washington this week, but there will linger long in the capital of the nation the memory—the heritage—of a man who as nearly approached the ideal of American citizenship as would seem possible in the complicated, complex hour in which we live. He would have made a benevolent and beloved president. There were those who thought he did not take public office seriously enough. That was because in eight years of life in Washington he saw so many in public office who struck him as funny. "Tom" Marshall hated cant and hypocrisy.

In the United States Senate he felt he was surrounded, almost suffocated by it. It led him to make the famous remark that if the prohibition amendment had been acted upon behind closed doors in secret session it would not have got twenty votes in the senate. No one ever contradicted that view of the then presiding officer of the august body.

Mr. Marshall had many old fashioned ideas. They were the old fashioned ideas the people needed. He had more of them than President Coolidge, and the very qualities of the man now in the White House, which have been most admired in the nation were possessed in equal or even greater degree by the kindly Hoosier, whose philosophies were marked by a sweetness of disposition and a sparkling wit which made them sink home with a smile.

Old Fashioned Ideas
Mr. Marshall had the old fashioned ideas, for instance that men were elected to the House of Representatives and to the Senate of the United States to be leaders of opinion, the enunciate principles of government and not be mere straws in the wind, blowing first one way and then the other as they thought their constituents might wish them to go.

"The people of this country didn't intend, in my judgment," said Mr. Marshall while he was still vice-president, "that their representatives should be guided by their constituents, but that elected representatives should act for them. Senators and representatives are like lawyers. Advice should not come from the client to the lawyer, but from the lawyer to the client. If the client doesn't like the advice, he can always get another lawyer. The people, in my opinion, should trust their representatives to act for them."

Yet Mr. Marshall held that the same criticism he leveled against senators and representatives held today against the lawyers.

Lawyers Criticized
"Indeed, lawyers, like statesmen," he said, "are losing their influence because they are not telling their clients what is the law and what should be done. Instead, lawyers nowadays are listening to boards of directors and trying to accomplish what those boards want done—often against the best judgment of the lawyers themselves."

Sometimes Tom Marshall was referred to as "the last of the small town men"—unless President Coolidge may still be classified as such. It is strange that in any consideration of Mr. Marshall, there always leaps to the mind the analogy to President Coolidge. Both were country lawyers. Both were elected governor of their state. Both were chosen to the vice presidency. Mr. Marshall's fate was to serve eight long and weary years in that capacity. Mr. Coolidge served but a little over two. Mr. Marshall stood for nearly a year on the brink of the presidency; Mr. Coolidge almost without warning was swept into the office. Mr. Marshall had all the homely virtues of a Coolidge, and led the same sort of god-fearing life. And yet, regarded merely as human beings in personal contact they were as dissimilar as two human beings could be. Tom Marshall was the soul of geniality. He liked contacts with his fellowman. He liked to tell stories—and to hear them. One biographer has spoken of him as a stick whittler. He was no miser with his words and the remarkable thing is that there still was pungency in every word he uttered.

Ever since March 4 last, when Vice-President Dawes delivered his tirade in the Senate, reporters had made an effort to draw a comment from Tom Marshall on the proceedings. But always there was a shake of the head—a shake of the head with a wonderful smile behind it. Mr. Marshall had some comments to make. They amused him; but he never gave them utterance.

Views on Life
Some years ago, when he was going to the Democratic national convention at San Francisco, Mr. Marshall gave his political views—his creed to the world. In view of Mr. Coolidge's Memorial day speech dealing with states' rights, an excerpt from the Marshall "platform" is illuminating. It is also brief.

"We should recognize," he said, "that this is still a federation of states; we should demand that the states discharge the duties of local self government and we should resist the usurpations of the general government."

And almost his last utterances—on any subject—was this: "With the setting of the sun today I have lived in this world seventy-one years. I have made

Annual Affair

Success and pleasure that has marked activity of the Arts and Crafts department of the Tuesday Afternoon club, during the past year under the curatorship of Estelle Brain, were reflected in the annual luncheon held yesterday in the Italian tea room at the clubhouse. Pastel colors were used in decorations. Showers of streamers of varied colors fell from the chandeliers, while at the places were unique figures dressed in the pastel colors, and carrying place cards on their arms. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, club president, was special guest. Mrs. Brain presided most graciously, introducing as speakers, Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. E. S. McKee, newly elected second vice-president and chairman of ways and means; Mrs. James Farrell, curator-elect, and Mrs. Bennett, who told of plans to continue the department work during the summer. Report given by the treasurer showed a larger balance on hand than at any previous time. The final meeting will be June 19, when work on lamp shades will be continued.

A feature of the affair was the presentation to the club of four attractive hanging baskets for the palm court. The baskets, which are in the shape of Indian pots, hold greenery. Mrs. William Hunter and Mrs. H. E. Clough represented the department in selecting and securing the baskets. Assisting Mrs. Brain with luncheon plans were Mrs. A. D. McCoy, Mrs. J. W. Stauffer, nominating committee; Mrs. C. U. Wells, decorations. Mesdames C. C. Carroll, Emil Johnson and C. U. Wells, luncheon.

HUDKINS SURE HE WILL WIN FIGHT

Nebraska Wildcat Confident He Can Put Over K. O. Before Seventh

By ACE HUDKINS
Pacific coast lightweight champion and contender for the world's title. For International News Service.

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—When I meet Tommy O'Brien in a ten-round bout here tomorrow night I will win. I will knock him out in the seventh round or sooner.

That is not an idle boast. I sincerely believe I will score a knockout for I do not think the New York boy can stand the punching I figure on giving him. I am not underestimating O'Brien. They tell me he is very good but the same boxing experts also tell me I am going so well now there is not a lightweight who can beat me.

Plans Body Attack
I intend to go right after O'Brien from the first bell. An attack to the body should prove effective against him. O'Brien is a slugger and that is what I like. I will go right in there and slug with him and I think I can take 'em just as hard as he can and I am confident I can hit harder and quicker than he can.

If confidence wins, I'm a victor now. I am in the very best of condition. I realize this is my big "shot" to date and my chance to win the world's title. My weight will be under 135 pounds—probably 134, proving I am a legitimate lightweight.

If I win all I want is a crack at the winner of the Mandell-Salvadoro bout and then I think I can be in a position to claim the world's title for I am certain I can whip either Mandell or Salvadoro.

TO-MORROW
A QUEER SITUATION

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers have started their annual off-season. The question, as in other years, is whether they have enough fizz to carry them through the season.

In the idea of May the Detroit took a whack at the old percentage column and raised their general score about 145 points, elevating themselves out of last place and winning at a little better than a two-to-one clip.

Last year the Tigers swept through the east like a fanning mill cleaning up wheat. Suppose they should get into a streak of that kind in the east this year on their first round, which starts Friday? What then? The ambitious Athletics would soon have company.

Of course there are the St. Louis and Cleveland teams to be overtaken, before the Tigers can claim a berth in the first division, but if they keep on as they are going now, it won't take long to clear that hurdle. Then there will be Chicago and Washington standing between them and a clash with the leaders.

Detroit has shown some skill in matching up with the Sox. In the early part of the season it was all Chicago. Not so now. It wouldn't be surprising if these teams went into the finals deadlocked, disputing every inch of the way and breaking even or thereabouts when the shooting is all over. It will depend a lot on whether the Chicago pitchers can hold the pace.

But see what a time is coming if the Tigers have finally come up to the standard which everybody predicted for them in the spring. There is a lot of uphill fighting to get into the charmed circle of the first division, but if this Michigan bunch has found itself, and is under way, somebody's boat is going to be bumped mighty hard before pay day, September 15, rolls around.

There is material in the Detroit team to make a whale of a fight. Cobb said while ago that too much was expected of his ballplayers. That is a fine plea for his players, but Ty wasn't quite right if he meant that plea as an actual valuation of his team, for it is a nine which should win a lot.

Cobb is playing with a mixed combination on his infield. He has Tavenor at short when he reckoned upon Rigney. The latter is not as fast as Tavenor, who is a wicked little bunch of fighting grit, but Rigney can hit better. Yet Detroit had to have speed around second base, where O'Rourke is reliable, but not so fast.

Haney, an aggressive player, who should be a high-class infielder if he would recognize his own worth, has grabbed third base against Jones. Haney is more fiery than Jones, and the Tigers need something to increase their steam pressure.

The team is working its way up in batting. That simply adds to the terror that it will have for others, because here is a combination of swashbucklers with the stick who should be hitting around .300 in every game.

It was unfortunate that Cobb himself was not physically himself when the season began, for he had been ready to lead his team into battle the club probably would now be in first division.

The principal fault with the Yanks is age—not age in years, but age in championships. The team is pennant stale. It can't get its fire back. Even the mighty Ruth is not likely to put it on its feet, though his presence and work did help to win Tuesday's game. Ruth is not at his best. The Yanks should scramble for a high-class second baseman and put Ward at short. Ward and Dugan would make one of the greatest combinations in baseball.

GIANTS WIN AGAIN

The Giants won from the Cards, 11 to 10, but lost Lindstrom and McQuillan, who were hit on the arm with pitched balls. Six homers were socked, Hornsby getting two. It was the first game the Cards have dropped under the Hornsby regime.

RED SOX LOSE

Harris gave the Red Sox the rough dry treatment and the Athletics won in a jog 12 to 2, evening the series.

TRIPLE WINS GAME

With three on and two out in the ninth, Hendrick, pinch hitter, smote the first ball pitched by Bush for a triple and the Indians beat the Browns 11 to 10.

DEFEAT DODGERS

In spite of their eighteen hits Taylor's homer with three on and a rally in the ninth, the Dodgers finished second to the Cubs, 11 to 9.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 5.—With the pure and simple object of pulling an alibi to shreds, the writer journeyed over to Astoria, as a few New Yorkers know, is a part of Greater New York. It lies over the East River and is chiefly to be distinguished by great gas houses and power plants hidden in dark smoke.

But these are not things to which Astoria owes her fame. Astoria is famous because Paul Berlenbach resides within her classic environment.

Inquiry here and there, deftly conducted, demonstrates that Paul was really a sick boy in the week preceding the fight. He had a throat that looked as though some one had been going over it with a garden rake and he was also feverish for several days.

The Astoria gang was surprised to see him last the full fifteen rounds—a distance over which he had never before fought and the proof that they were surprised may be gathered from the fact that his own crowd laid off on the betting.

Just now, basing judgment on the sort of fight he put up against McTigue, not so good a fight, by the way, as a smaller man, Mickey Walker waged against the former light heavy king, everyone is picking Berlenbach as an easy mark for Jack Delaney when the two meet.

But don't be surprised if Paul reverses the outcome of his last battle with the French Canadian. Berlenbach has learned a lot and some of it showed in his bout with McTigue, especially his efficient work when the two were close together.

McTigue is around town none the worse for his battle and with no alibi. One might almost say he looks better than he has no title to worry about.

"Sure, I'll fight some more," said Michael today in his rich county Clare brogue. "I've got many a good bout left in me, even if the time is going to come sooner or later when I'll have to do what many a good man has done before me—hang 'em up."

XI.—Educating Apes
If the apes were a sick, food-impooverished tribe of animals, that could be classed with civilized man, and if civilized man's health was that of the monkeys of the present time, then man could feel that he was in a position to civilize and educate the so-called lower apes.

People with perverted appetites are running everywhere for some magic cure for their terrible case of indigestion, constipation, gastritis, colitis, tonsillitis, bronchitis, asthma, and dozens of other diseases.

They run right past the very information they are seeking, pausing only long enough to give the monkey a chance to think (and they are capable of it) of what a large variety of physical wrecks, the civilized method of bolting unnatural food, makes out of man who is supposed to be so much superior to the monkey in all methods of existence.

No monkey ever bolts his food, neither will he eat cooked foods, unless forced to do it by starvation.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1925.

NEW YORK, June 5.—In spite of her defeat by Miss Joyce Wethered, Miss Glenna Collett holds the high respect of the English golfing public. Abundant evidence has come to the writer's desk from the other side to show that she is rated by English critics as belonging to that small and select group of the world's greatest women golfers.

This opinion is derived not so much from her play against the British champion—although it was appraised as in every way meritorious—as because of her performance against Cyril Tolley whom she defeated by one hole in the team match between men and women at Stoke Poges.

It is true that Mr. Tolley allowed his fair American rival a stroke every other hole. Granted that this is a terrific handicap to impose upon any golfer, yet the fact remains that a first class amateur can surmount it in competition against a woman star.

There have been seven men versus women matches at Stoke Poges and in only one of them have the women prevailed. The victory of the feminine golfers, as a matter of fact, occurred last season.

In this year's match the men won and the fact that Miss Collett defeated Mr. Tolley when he was at the top of his form has caused English golfers to coincide with the American opinion that the Providence girl is the pick of American women golfers and ranking with Miss Wethered and Miss Leitch as the world's greatest, notwithstanding she does not happen to hold the championship of the United States.

Those who saw Miss Collett play for the first time at Troon were very much impressed by the lack of circumstance about her game. Her manner of addressing the ball with hardly any evidence of that preliminary waggle, which marks most golfers' style excited a great deal of favorable comment while they are now debating whether or not her long swing, her follow through, is not the secret of the success of women in the art in driving a small globe over three or four miles of country.

The English golfing public has had many opportunities of seeing leading American women players in action in the past few years; they have seen Miss Edith Cummings, Miss Marion Hollins, Miss Alexa Stirling, Miss Margaret Curtis and Miss Harriett Curtis, but the prevailing opinion seems to be that the player from Rhode Island possesses qualities that her sisters have not displayed.

BASEBALL

The Twilight league game scheduled for yesterday afternoon between the Glendale Creamery and the Postoffice employees, to determine which team shall remain in the cellar, will be played this afternoon, inasmuch as the players decided yesterday they wanted to witness the Shrine parade and festivities in Los Angeles. The mailmen have dropped three games, while the creamery lads have lost their only two starts.

The installation team of the Southern California Telephone Co. will meet the Pacific Electric team in a regular Commercial league game tomorrow afternoon, according to "Pep" Kerwin. The game will be played at the local park and will start at 2:15 o'clock. Admission will be free. The two teams are tied for first place. In the lineup of the installation team will be several Glendale players, including Stradley, Cryan, Emerson, Kautz and Kerwin.

BANCROFT INJURED

The Reds snapped out of their losing streak by manhandling Barnes and Marquard for eighteen hits and beating the Braves in the eleventh, 7 to 6. Bancroft broke a careless thumb and will be out of the game for two weeks.

SENATORS VICTORS

The Yanks' great winning streak of two straight was brought to an end by Ruether and the Washington Senators. Ruether left-handed the Yankees silly. Judge smote two homers and the Senators won 8 to 3.

TRIPLE WINS GAME

With three on and two out in the ninth, Hendrick, pinch hitter, smote the first ball pitched by Bush for a triple and the Indians beat the Browns 11 to 10.

DEFEAT DODGERS

In spite of their eighteen hits Taylor's homer with three on and a rally in the ninth, the Dodgers finished second to the Cubs, 11 to 9.

CITRUS RACQUET TEAM DEFEATED

Dynamite Girls' Squad Wins Every Match; Local Boys Victors, 11 to 6

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
The girls of the Dynamite tennis team practically clinched the Central league pennant in their division yesterday, when they took every match at Citrus. While the girls were walloping the Citrus court stars, the Dynamite boys' team was winning on the Harvard High school courts, 11 to 6, from the Citrus boys.

Members of the girls' team which piled up a 17 to 0 score against Citrus were: Mary Barbara Taylor, Jeanette Zeitlin, Virginia Clark and Alice Mercer, singles; Ruth McCabe and Wilma Hoyt in the first doubles and Valida Taylor and Margaret Anderson in the second doubles.

The winners on the boys' team were: Mayne Maxwell and Francis Hardy, singles, and Perry Townsend and Jack Finch in the first doubles. The boys will meet the Covina players here next Thursday, while the girls will play at Covina in the final match.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Tom Gibbons and Gene Tunney, a pair of well behaved young men with the instincts of a tamed monk and the innate courtesy of a head waiter, will step out tonight for fifteen rounds at the Polo grounds and out of the meeting we are assured will come the white challenger for Dempsey's heavyweight title.

I happen to think Gibbons will win. The business, however, should be no closer than a couple of fingers on the same hand. One cannot go behind facts any more than one can go behind his own hip pocket and the fact in this case is that, unless either or both of the principals forget their lines, the bout will shape up in this unseemly manner: Gibbons, a man waiting to counter, versus Tunney, a man who won't lead.

Everything possible has been done, however, to take the curse off that question. The men will weigh in at the boxing commission offices where hitherto only the principals in championship meetings were so honored. This ceremony will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon and mean less than nothing, since weight-making matter will be necessary not expedient. It is probable that both of the young men will scale in the vicinity of 185 pounds, just over the border line of the heavyweight division.

To make the business look all the more official, Jack Dempsey has weighed in with his customary offer to meet the winner and it probably will be read from the ringside just as blandly as it was when Luis Firpo met Harry Williams. Anyone with the olfactory sense reasonably developed can detect the burning embers of the good old smoke up there.

And lest I forget, there was a vivid word picture drawn of Tunney gnawing about his camp at White Sulphur Springs and coming to town late yesterday with his lips drawn back to the biceps. Tunney is one of those individuals who snarls with all the nasty emphasis of the family mare.

Gibbons also threw off a few sparks for the benefit of the writer, relieving himself of the declaration that he meant to get Tunney and get him as early as possible. If a twentieth amendment were passed making a penal offense for the writer to doubt anything he would string along with Gibbons.

BANCROFT INJURED

The Reds snapped out of their losing streak by manhandling Barnes and Marquard for eighteen hits and beating the Braves in the eleventh, 7 to 6. Bancroft broke a careless thumb and will be out of the game for two weeks.

SENATORS VICTORS

The Yanks' great winning streak of two straight was brought to an end by Ruether and the Washington Senators. Ruether left-handed the Yankees silly. Judge smote two homers and the Senators won 8 to 3.

TRIPLE WINS GAME

With three on and two out in the ninth, Hendrick, pinch hitter, smote the first ball pitched by Bush for a triple and the Indians beat the Browns 11 to 10.

DEFEAT DODGERS

In spite of their eighteen hits Taylor's homer with three on and a rally in the ninth, the Dodgers finished second to the Cubs, 11 to 9.

RED SOX LOSE

Harris gave the Red Sox the rough dry treatment and the Athletics won in a jog 12 to 2, evening the series.

CITRUS RACQUET TEAM DEFEATED

Dynamite Girls' Squad Wins Every Match; Local Boys Victors, 11 to 6

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
The girls of the Dynamite tennis team practically clinched the Central league pennant in their division yesterday, when they took every match at Citrus. While the girls were walloping the Citrus court stars, the Dynamite boys' team was winning on the Harvard High school courts, 11 to 6, from the Citrus boys.

The official Shrine parade in which patrols and bands of all Shrines and members of Al Malaikah temple took part, commenced to form at 6 o'clock. Two hours later it wound its way into the coliseum.

The best traffic preparations were unable to cope with the crowd, at least twice as large as had been anticipated. Pedestrians made faster time along the streets than automobiles. Street cars barely moved for hours.

Police confined their efforts to handling the crowd so that accidents and injuries were confined to the minimum and to keeping the great mass of humans moving.

Crowded to Doors

Although the seating capacity of the coliseum is but 80,000 spectators were prepared for the overcrowding. Many thousands came with camp stools, others were furnished boxes on which to sit. Zack Farmer, manager of the coliseum, estimated the crowd within the stadium to be 100,000. After a tour of streets in the vicinity he said twice that number were on the outside.

The coliseum was virtually filled by 6 o'clock. Twenty-five thousand spectators who attempted to enter after 7 o'clock were

The two great spectacles in the coliseum were declared by Shrine officials to have been unsurpassed among Shrine events of history. The formal parade was headed by a mounted and motorcycle police escort. Robert Wankowski, grand marshal, led the marchers. He was followed by his chief of staff

Al. R. Parks and his adjutant, Henry G. Krohn. Next came aides de camp.

These were followed by the famous Cincinnati Shrine band and the chanting trio.

Glendale Represented

The band and chanters came just before the great Malaikah contingent, headed by George C. Ware. Well up in the line of march were 500 members of Glendale, members of the Glendale Shrine under L. H. Wilson and others. They were accompanied by the Glendale Drum and Bugle corps. In their khaki uniform and natty trench helmets, the bugle corps gained thunderous applause as it passed around the coliseum. Another spectacular portion of the Al Malaikah display was the mounted patrol, riding high spirited horses with the gleaming silver mounted saddlery Following Al Malaikeh temple were the entries of Shrines from all over America, with a thousand features that thrilled and pleased the great mass of spectators.

It was well after midnight when the moving picture spectacle was concluded. Not until after 2 o'clock this morning was the crowd thinned out and the great throngs of merry-makers willing to go to their hotels and trust

There are a total of 4618 voters registered to cast their ballots at the election on June 30, when Burbank will decide whether or not it shall be annexed to Los Angeles, according to a report by City Clerk W. E. Brown. Precincts from eleven to 662 voters.

HOG RECEIPTS
KANSAS CITY, June 5.—Hog receipts for May were 169,000 head, the lowest in forty years. Only 120,000 sheep arrived, the lightest May receipts since 1917. Not since 1920 have so few cattle as 153,000 been received here.

GAS RATE FALLS
SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—Following the recent reduction of 10 cents a barrel in crude oil, California illuminating gas companies will reduce rates to consumers by three cents a thousand cubic feet.

SHRINERS SEE PAGEANT BY CHILDREN

Flower Decked Floats Tell Romantic History Of Southland District

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—A brilliant floral pageant, staged by thousands of Los Angeles school children, depicting the story of Golden California and the waters of the blue Pacific, featured today's session of the fifty-first annual convocation of the Shriners.

The story of the west in the parade of 1800 students from 140 Los Angeles schools was told in 115 episodes by flower-decked floats made brilliant with California-grown blossoms.

The romantic history of Southern California under the flags of Spain, Mexico, the republic of California and the United States was shown in twenty floats, while a score of scenes depicted the "winning of the west."

Other sections showed Indian and Aztec life and the discovery of the Pacific by Balboa.

Another section revealed nature's gifts to California and another division pictured child life in this state.

The farrow float was a gorgeous creation of flowers, entitled "The End of the Rainbow."

KIWANIS HOST TO TUJUNGA MEN

Neighboring Club Presents Program at Meeting Held In Glendale

Members of the Tujunga Kiwanis club took charge of the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Glendale Kiwanis club, held today noon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse.

President Frank Fox, of the Glendale club, turned the guest over to Carroll Patcher, president of the visiting organization, who proceeded to direct the activities.

President Patcher, in speaking of the attendance records of the two clubs during the recent contest, when Glendale and Tujunga were two of the nineteen clubs in the United States to have a perfect record for ten weeks, said that the Tujunga members expressed their congratulations to the Glendale club.

A large bouquet of flowers, gathered in Tujunga gardens, was presented by President Patcher to the local club.

Jimmy Smith, known for his ability as a song leader, directed the visitors in several numbers, and also sang two solos. He played his accompaniment on his noted folding organ.

Four Men Buried by City Sewer Cave-In

ing them before their lives were snuffed out.

City Manager Virgil B. Stone, as soon as word of the disaster reached him, directed all employees of the public service department of the city to hasten to the scene of the cave-in.

The lungmotor of the Glendale Fire department was rushed to the scene and all steps were taken to give the men first aid treatment as soon as they were brought to the surface.

John Caskey, an engineer on the job, was reached by the rescuers and brought to the surface. He was rushed to the Glendale hospital as soon as he was removed. The volunteer diggers found Caskey at a depth of approximately sixteen feet. Caskey lives at the Knights of Columbus clubhouse.

Under Heavy Weight

A few feet beyond the spot where Caskey was found, the rescuers encountered heavy blocks of paving material. Some of the blocks, it was estimated by engineers on the job, weighed nearly half a ton, and the rescuers sought to dislodge them by means of long ropes and chains.

Those in charge of the rescue work expressed the belief that the two men still missing might have been pinned beneath the blocks of paving material. The blocks had been piled along the side of the trench after the earth had been removed by the mechanical excavator, and slipped into the trench when the ground below gave way.

Heard for Blocks

The dirt along the sides of the trench, under the roadway, gave way with a roar that could be heard for blocks. The sound of the slipping earth sounded as a warning signal to numerous other laborers who were working near the cave-in, and they scrambled to safety.

Caskey recovered sufficiently shortly after being taken from the trench to return to the scene and took personal charge of the rescue work. Within fifteen minutes after the cave-in nearly 200 persons had been rushed to the scene, equipped with shovels and aided in the digging toward the entombed men.

Workmen began breaking the blocks of paving material into smaller pieces, using heavy sledges. J. C. Hicks, contractor for the section, discarded a suggestion to use a heavy crane, which was standing about a block from the cave-in, to remove the paving material. He said the vibrations of the machine would endanger the lives of the rescuers, inasmuch as the ground below the street surface had been loosened by the heavy rains.

Three doctors and two ambulances were stationed near the rescue work. Housewives living in the vicinity of the cave-in made preparations to care for the two men in the event they were alive when they were brought to the surface.

Forty-five minutes after the cave-in a new danger was observed when the protruding edges of the street paving were seen to sway and falter under the loads of dirt piled on them. It was feared that the paving would give way, thus burying beneath more dirt and paving material the rescuers who were striving to reach the imprisoned men.

Housewives on Colorado street in the block where the tragedy occurred began serving hot coffee and sandwiches to the workers.

Glendale Lineman Is Electrocuted at Theatre

light department. Chanselor has been with the city for about eighteen months, being employed as a lineman all during that time.

He was engaged in the installation of high voltage power line at the Alexander theatre when the accident occurred. Just how he came in contact with the wires carrying the current was not known. Peter Dietrich, superintendent of plant and production, said that the platform on which the man was working did not have him in a hazardous position.

Men who were working below were unable to shed any light on how the electrocution occurred. They said a groan and thud when Chanselor's body fell to the platform was the first intimation they had that anything was wrong.

No Evidence of Burns

An autopsy to determine whether Chanselor was electrocuted or whether heart failure was the cause of his death will be performed late this afternoon. Dr. Kaemmerling announced. The decision to hold an autopsy was reached when a close examination of the body failed to show any burns and Dr. Kaemmerling stated that it was possible heart failure caused death.

The inquest will be held at the Jewel City Undertaking parlors, with Coroner Frank Nance in charge.

MENTAL PERVERT IN DUAL TRAGEDY

Unidentified Visitors at Art Gallery in Sacramento Shoots Up Place

SACRAMENTO, June 5.—Running amuck with a rifle in the Crocker Art gallery here today an unidentified man, believed by the police to have been crazy, shot and killed Richard Burnett, believed to be from Oakland, a spectator in the gallery, and was killed himself, later in a gun duel with O. L. Brainerd.

The demented man flourishing an old 38-55 frontier type rifle, entered the art gallery shortly after noon and ordered the aged caretaker to "show him about."

After one shot had been fired at him, the caretaker complied with the orders of the madman. Encountering Burnett and a companion, the rifle wielder ordered them to leave the building.

Not complying with his orders quick enough, the demented man shot and killed Burnett and then held a reign of terror in the gallery, shooting wildly.

He then went aside and seated himself on the banister of the veranda which fronts the building. He sighted Brainerd who conducts a dry cleaning establishment across the street and fired two shots at him.

Brainerd secured a shotgun after being chased into a nearby grocery store. As the crazed man appeared at the entrance Brainerd leveled the shotgun and fired before his assailant could raise his gun to his shoulder.

At police headquarters it was learned that the demented man had been in jail on several different occasions and was generally looked upon as a mental pervert.

ponent, but got the stroke back on the seventeenth, with a par four against MacFarlane's five, and the eighteenth was halved, leaving them even again.

MacFarlane's failure to sink a three-foot putt on the eighteenth hole beat him out of victory. This would have given him a birdie three for the hole. As it was, they halved the hole in four. Both played the eighteen holes in seventy-five strokes. They are playing off at eighteen holes this afternoon.

Jones took the lead this afternoon. MacFarlane was first to take the lead this morning. At the fourth hole Bobby gained a stroke on his opponent when MacFarlane missed his putt and picked up another on the next hole.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service

NEW YORK, June 5.—After reaching a lower level of prices in dull and irregular trading today, most of the active stocks encountered a better buying demand, and good rallies were in progress in various parts of the speculative list.

Foreign developments played an important part in the developments of the day. The reorganization of the Stinnes industrial enterprises, with the backing of German banks, was of particular interest to Wall street bankers and investment houses with whom negotiations are said to be under way.

French francs broke to 4.85 on reports that the new administration would advocate calling in of the war bonds and a huge inflation of the currency.

Outside of the favorable money market decline in bankers' acceptance rates, the most important domestic market feature was the government's report of gasoline, in April. Domestic consumption of 27,030,000 gallons daily was the largest in the history of the American oil industry and somewhat beyond expectations.

The paralysis of the London wool market was reflected in the American textile markets, as well as in the market for stocks of the principal textile companies.

Professionals whip-sawed the market backward and forward until well past the noon period, with the bears in control of all but the oil and a few of the specialties and motor stocks. American Can, Baldwin and other industrial leaders declined from 1/4 to 1/2 points on fairly active trading, which was generally without effect on the rank and file of industrial and railroad shares. As buying power appeared, these stocks gradually stiffened and made good progress back to their former price levels.

The bullish reports from the oil industry, however, which effect on oil stocks, which are still held back by the enormous overproduction of crude oil.

Pan-American and Mid-Continent continued to lead; strength of the latter being due to rumors that the company would be returned to the dividend column later in the year. Mid-States and Caddo, two of the low-priced oils, were also strong.

Mid-Continent Petroleum, Maryland, Pan-American, Middle States, Pacific and other independent oils led the market in a moderate rally in the last hour. Motor and industrial stocks also participated in the final movement, and in some cases sold above yesterday's close.

Phillips Petroleum sold up 2 points, at 43 1/2; Sinclair sold up 1, at 21 1/2; Mid-Continent and Maryland, 1 1/2 up each; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 3/4, at 43 1/2; Mack Trucks sold up from $1.85 1/2 to above 189; Cast Iron Pipe gained a point and General Motors advanced to near the high of the present movement.

Stock sales, 1,208,100 shares; bonds, $11,803,000.

MONEY & EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, June 5.—Call money on the floor of the New York stock exchange today ruled at 3 1/2 per cent; high, 4 1/2 per cent; low, 3 1/4 per cent. Time money was quiet. Rates were: 30 days, 3 1/4 @ 4 per cent; 60 days, 3 1/2 @ 4 per cent; 90 days, 3 3/4 @ 4 per cent; 120 days, 3 1/2 @ 4 per cent; 180 days, 3 1/2 @ 4 per cent; 360 days, 3 1/2 @ 4 per cent. The market for prime mercantile paper was quiet. Call money in London was steady with business in bankers' bills at $4.85 for demand.

MARKET SUMMARY

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—Gasoline prices have been increased another cent by Atlantic Refining in the New England States. Market wires also carry the report that the 10,000 barrel well brought in by Lago Petroleum Co. in the LaRosa field, Venezuela, is on fire. Efforts are being made to control the Henderson Petroleum Co. gasser in southwest Los Angeles.

An extra dividend of one fiftieth of a share in common has been declared on American Gas & Electric common, in addition to 25 cents regular quarterly, payable July 1, stock of record June 10. The dividend gets 1 1/2 per cent regular return on August 1. Packard and Reo Motors both yesterday announced extra dividends.
